State agri dept 1st to go fully paperless

4 dists to have this facility before Dec 31, 2022; Aims to bring transparency and efficiency in process

ASHWINI M SRIPAD @ Bengaluru

FARMERS across Karnataka will be the first in India to be able to access procurement and distribution processes in a completely paperless and transparent manner, which will be mandatory from April 1, 2023. The state's agriculture department will take its first step toward that from January 1, 2023, when it will be the first agricultural department in the country to go paperless.

According to a government order dated November 24, 2022, before December 31, 2022, four districts of Shivamogga, Vijayapura, Chitradurga and Mysuru will have this facility, and from January 1, it will be launched in all 31 districts on a pilot basis.

"It will be mandatory from April 1, 2023 and it has to be completely paperless by then," the order said.

The entire system of digitisation is being done in association with the National Informatic Centre (NIC). With digitisation, farmers availing benefits from over 30 schemes of the state and Central governments can be checked online.

An official from the state agriculture department, on condition of anonymity, explained to The New Sunday Express: "If a farmer buys seeds or fertilisers from a particular Raitha Samparka Kendra, all these products will have QR codes. By scanning, it would be clear which farmer has purchased from which vendor and the details of the purchase and the purchaser. This basically makes the vendor responsible if seeds are of low quality. This also gives us real time data of the quantity of stock in each of the Raitha Samparka Kendras, and the live data helps us to work better. This helps the administration maintain transparency."

This is aimed at improving efficiency in the agriculture department as well as make it easy and convenient for the farmers and the vendors to maintain data, which can easily be referred to in case of possible disputes, if any. By adopting e-files, efficiency of officials will also improve. P5

Bommai announces special schemes for specially-abled

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bengaluru

CHIEF Minister Basavaraj Bommai on Saturday launched a special health insurance scheme covering medical expenses up to Rs 5 lakh for treatment of People with Disabilities (PwD).

Speaking at a programme organised by the Directorate of Disabled Persons and Empowerment of Senior Citizens as part of the World Day of Persons with Disabilities 2022, the CM said 3% reservation in housing schemes for the disabled will also be provided.

A shelter for mentally-challenged children will be established soon, besides providing 2,000 battery powered tricycles to the differently-abled by March 2023 for which ₹25 crore has been earmarked, he said. "The government will ensure all facilities to people with disabilities," he said. Bommai also announced special grants for education of differently-abled in the upcoming budget. The funds for special kids in residential schools, welfare centres and even shelter homes have already been increased this year. P2

In TN, Stalin announces WFH for differently-abled

TN CM MK Stalin on Saturday said, "There is no necessity for the differently-abled persons to go to office to work. We are going to create an ambience that would facilitate working from home."

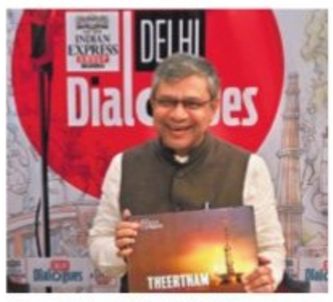
'India's telecom tech will win the world'

"WE will win the world... With these words, Ashwini Vaishnaw, the Union Minister of Communications, Electronics and Information Technology, and Railways, emphasised that the country's telecom technology sector is ready to take on the high and mighty across the globe. Vaishnaw said India will become a major exporter of telecom technology in the next 2-3 years, and that the country will break the dominance of the top global companies in the coming years.

Vaishnaw was speaking at the first edition of TNIE Delhi Dialogue here on Saturday. In a freewheeling conversion with the Delhi Bureau of TNIE, the minister said that India has already started getting queries from various countries, including developed nations, about the world-class 4G and 5G stack developed here in the last couple of years.

Vaishnaw was forthright in his responses and played all the difficult questions with a straight bat.

On the controversial issue of the new personal data protection (draft) bill, he dismissed concerns over the government exempting itself from most of the provisions of the law. He said most exemptions are specific, and each has a clear logic to it. "There are developed Western countries that have given many more exemptions than what we have given to ourselves," he said.



Union Minister Ashwini Vaishnaw

Vaishnaw was dismissive of 'experts' creating panic over it, saying, "I have met people who very deeply understand privacy and privacy-related regulations, and have worked in the field in other geographies. I must have by now met 90 such experts — real experts."

Defending the draft data privacy law, Vaishnaw said it is for the first time that citizens' safety has been kept the central theme of a bill.

The discussion also veered to the draft telecom bill, which has also created its own set of controversies – the primary being the proposal to bring OTT platforms under a licence regime. However, the minister hinted that the OTT platforms will have to deal with only "light-touch regulations".

Vaishnaw wears many hats, and being the railway minister is one of them. He announced that work on the first bullet train is on in full swing. Around 112 km of the track has been built since August 2021. The first trial runs of the bullet train will be held in 2026, Vaishnaw said. The full coverage of the TNIE Delhi Dialogue will appear on Tuesday.

Container rams 7 vehicles on NH-48, traffic hit for 1 hr

BENGALURU: Traffic came to a complete standstill for an hour on NH-48 when a Tumakuru-bound container vehicle rammed seven other vehicles due to some glitch in brakes, and came to a halt after hitting a push-cart, leaving one injured. The incident took place near the Nelamangala toll around 4.15 pm.

Kavitha changes tack

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Hyderabad

A day after accepting the CBI's request for her questioning on December 6 in the Delhi excise policy scam, TRS leader K Kavitha changed tack and sought copies of a complaint and other documents the probe agency had cited in its notice.

In her letter to the CBI on Saturday, she said the date of her questioning could be fixed after she acquaints herself with the contents of the complaint. In other words, her offer to meet CBI officials at her residence in Hyderabad on December 6 is subject to the receipt of the documents.

On Saturday morning, Kavitha called on her father Chief Minister K Chandrashekar Rao. Sources said the legal aspects of the CBI notice were examined in detail by both of them, after which the letter was sent in the evening. Kavitha's letter to Alok Kumar Shahi, DSP, CBI states: "I would request you to kindly provide me copies of the complaint vide OM No.14035/06/2022-Delhi-1 dated 22/07/22 received from Sri Praveen Kumar Roy, MHA of India, and RC 53(A)/2022 of CBI/ACB/Delhi referred to in your notice... Date of our meeting can be fixed at Hyderabad after the receipt of the documents."

Umar Khalid freed in one Delhi riot case

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ New Delhi

A Delhi court on Saturday discharged student activist Umar Khalid and United Against Hate member Khalid Saifi in a case related to arson, vandalism and stone pelting in the 2020 riots in north-east Delhi.

However, the former JNU students will remain in judicial custody in the Unlawful Activities Prevention Act case slapped against them over larger conspiracy behind the riots.

Additional Sessions Judge Pulastya Pramachala issued the order in the First Information Report registered at a police station on the basis of the statement of constable Sangram Singh, who said a mob had pelted stones and set several vehicles on fire.

The court also acquitted three others — Mohammed Illiyas, Jagar Khan and Tariq Moin Rizvi — charged over riots on furnishing a bond of ₹10,000 with one surety in the like amount.

From 2000, Cheshire Homes India Coorg has been helping children & adults with intellectual disabilities

STEPPING STONE FOR SPECIAL CHILDREN

1. Institution equipped to support needs of specially-abled, has 'tactile paving' that helps guide the visually impaired
2. Toilets fabricated to meet the needs of specially-abled
3. Institution has full-time physiotherapist and psychiatrist
4. Helps recycle and upcycle plastic and paper waste, provides means of sustainable earnings to the specially-abled
5. Centre has a 'care unit' where people with severe intellectual disabilities are cared for and nurtured
6. Projects of Central government are implemented to empower the specially-abled

PRAJNA GR @ Madikeri

'SAVE Soil', 'Swachh Bharat', 'Atmanirbhar...' are not just grand slogans here. They are constants that motivate the functioning of Cheshire Homes India Coorg (CHIC), in Pollibetta of Kodagu district. An institution for the specially-abled, it caters to the needs of children and adults with intellectual disabilities – a majority of whom are from economically weak backgrounds.

Started in the year 2000, the centre has helped shape the lives of people with special abilities by providing special education and vocational training for free. Students are provided sustainable education and are involved not just in readying themselves to face a not-so-inclusive society but are also taught to lead a sustainable, eco-friendly life. Apart from special education, vocational training involves recycling plastic, clothes, paper and manufacturing eco-friendly value-added products.

"The institution is run under the umbrella of Cheshire National Council, but we are an autonomous body. The institution supports strengthening of the National Council so that we have a stronger body for disability in India," explained Gita Chengappa, chairperson of the institution.

The centre receives support from the state government. "The state releases Rs 19 lakh annually and supports us. However, on an average, the institution requires Rs 40 lakh to Rs 50 lakh, which is raised through various donors. The institution caters mostly to people from very poor economic backgrounds," added Gita.

Community acceptance

While most special schools are residential, CHIC is a day care centre. Each day, five school vans (hired on rent) leave the institution in five different directions. Designated pick-up spots have been drawn up and students are brought to these spots by their parents, where they are picked up and dropped back after school. "We spend over Rs 13 lakh for the van facility annually. Yet, we don't want to make this a residential institution. We want the community, parents and society to be responsible for children with special abilities," she opined.

The institution started off with just six students with special abilities. During the initial period, the institution involved itself in Community Based Rehabilitation (CBR) and travelled the length and breadth of Virajpet taluk. "We went door to door, looking for children with special abilities and convinced parents not to keep these children hidden but to admit them to the institution. It was then run in a small building in Pollibetta," she recalled.

The CBR programme was continued for eight years, and the institution currently operates in a spacious location with improved facilities, with 68 specially-abled students who are diagnosed with intellectual disabilities.

"After Covid-19, the number of students dwindled as many fell sick. But we continued to cater to their needs and are still providing them the required medication," she said. The institution helps them avail of government schemes for the specially-abled. During the pandemic, the institution supported their families with provisions and monetary help.

Driving force

The centre has six special educators. Shivraj, a specialist in visual impairment and mental retardation, heads the team as headmaster. Apart from the special educators, the centre has appointed vocational trainers. "The students are being skilled under different campaigns. While an inclusive society is still a distant dream, we are helping to skill them to earn a living within the boundaries of our institution," she explained.

Single-use plastics, used papers and newspapers, used clothes and other recyclable plastic waste are turned into value-added products. Children with even severe impairment are involved in vocational activity which can help shape a sustainable, eco-friendly society. Used plastics are cut into pieces and woven (with help from a few women) into aesthetic mats. Used papers are cut into small pieces and processed into eco-friendly reusable paper, which is turned into paper bags and other items, and decorated with indigenous paintings.

From coasters to pillow covers, the talents of the specially-abled not just earn them a good living but help raise funds for the institution. The centre also has a 'Jumble Sale Room' where used clothes and other used items are stored and later sold. "We try unique methods to raise funds and build the institution," explained Gita. The centre has a handloom unit operated by women from economically weak backgrounds, who are paid for their work. They also raise funds through handloom sales.

Having addressed the needs of specially-abled people across Virajpet taluk, the institution is slowly expanding to the borders of Somwarpet taluk.

Kala Chetana, the brainchild of a hotelier, has hosted artistes, celebrated art and enthralled Gadag since 1996

BRINGING CULTURE TO TOWN

Vidhushi Anagha Bhat of Bengaluru performs at Kala Chetana in Gadag | EXPRESS

RAGHOTTAM KOPPAR @ Gadag

IT was 25 years ago when hotelier Kavemshri (short for Kalamanji Venkatagiriyappa Shrinivasa) had a dream. He sought to create a platform where the culture and literary prowess of this great land could breathe, flourish and be preserved for posterity. Through his hardwork and passion was realised 'Kala Chetana'.

The idea of establishing a new cultural organisation was mooted in 1995 after a 'Kavya Kunch' cultural programme in Dharwad. Kavemshri was then working as manager of the 'Gadag Restaurant' on Station Road in Gadag town. Later, he started his own restaurant, 'Nesara', near Tontadarya Mutt.

In those days, Kavemshri would write articles on art, culture and folklore that were published in Kannada magazines, periodicals and daily journals. His writings in the cultural realm further helped him in his drive to set up Kala Chetana.

He also watched several dramas and participated in cultural meets in Gadag during his leisure time. One day, he thought, why not bring culture from the other side and introduce it among the natives of his town. Hence, he contacted like-minded friends and sought their guidance to move forward.

His goal was to bridge artistes from both the Southern and Northern regions, who together could celebrate culture and performing arts like Yakshagana, Bayalata, Doddata, classical music, drama, and others. Kala Chetana finally took shape in 1996. Its primary aim was to bring the cultural essence of Karnataka to Gadag, while introducing a host of national and international artists to the people here. In its early days, whenever the organisation planned to have any performances, it would use posters as backgrounds, but in its 10th year, it arranged a theatre show and created a 'ranga sajjike' (theatre decoration), a first for Gadag. Similarly, Kala Chetana would pioneer several novel ideas, while continuing to embrace its drive to rekindle cultural ties through the arts.

In his journey, Kannada writer Chandrashekhar Vastrad and printer Vishwanath Nalawadad rendered constant support to Kavemshri, since the inception of Kala Chetana, especially in organising programmes there.

Further, Kavemshri invited Yakshagana and Doddata artistes, singers, educationists, writers, musicians, and felicitated them. The aim was to introduce new themes among discerning patrons and offer a platform for young artists to vie for success.

And so it has come to be! Kala Chetana held its 25th anniversary celebrations last month. "Our intention is to act as a bridge between artistes and art lovers in Gadag. I am also blessed to be in touch with great writers like Shivaram Karanth and Poornachandra Tejaswi. Earlier I used to write my name as KV Shrinivas, but Poornachandra Tejaswi changed my name to Kavemshri. I am thankful to my team for supporting me in steering the organisation successfully to its 25th year," Kavemshri said.

"Kala Chetana has been instrumental and innovative, especially in bringing three generations of artistes and resource persons from different professions to Gadag," Basavanneppa (Raju) Sankeshwar, vice-president of Kala Chetana, concluded.

THREE GENERATIONS OF ARTISTES

Kala Chetana members invited three generations of artistes – Pandit Venkatesh Godakhindi, Pandit Praveen Godakhindi and Kumar Shadaj Godakhindi – to perform in one musical concert in Gadag, for its 10th anniversary. This year, father-and-son duo Pandit Praveen Godakhindi and Kumar Shadaj Godakhindi performed at the silver jubilee celebrations

'SHRI' AWARDS

As the founder's name contains the word 'Shri', Kavemshri and other members have been presenting awards in the names of 'Nadashri', 'Kalashri', 'Natyashri', 'Gayanashri', 'Rangashri', 'Abhinayashri', 'Ankanashri' and 'Varnashri' each year. Till today, more than 100 renowned writers, musicians, folk artistes and theatre personalities have received awards from Kala Chetana that end with 'Shri'

Participants during an event on International Day of Disabled Persons in Bengaluru on Thursday | EXPRESS

The CM said there are around 50 lakh people with disabilities in Karnataka and urged the people of the state to contribute to their cause in their own way. Bommai also visited Kanteerava Stadium and inaugurated a national-level art exhibition organised by people with disabilities from Nimhans.

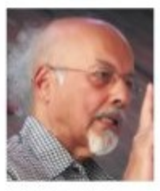
Meanwhile, Vision Empower along with Sankara Eye Hospital volunteered to educate passengers at Kempegowda International Airport (KIA) by creating a special experience to sensitise them about the numerous transformative possibilities being made available to children with visual impairment to pursue science, math and computational thinking education at the special schools for the visually impaired. The initiative was in alignment with the United Nations theme of 'Transformative solutions for inclusive development: the role of innovation in fuelling an accessible and equitable world".

Snehadeep Trust, Bengaluru also organised an awareness initiative at Freedom Park to highlight the challenges faced by the disabled community and to stress on the need to provide them with equal opportunities. Noted actress Amulya Gowda also participated in the event.

Make lasting contribution to be remembered: TJS George to leaders

DESE GOWDA @ Bengaluru

VETERAN journalist and author TJS George on Saturday said that the former Congress president Rahul Gandhi "will be irrelevant" in the next few years. At a panel discussion on his recent book The Dismantling of India in 35 Portraits at the Bangalore Literature Festival 2022, George was asked if he had revised his critical view of Rahul after the Bharat Jodo Yatra, to which he replied: "No, I don't think he [Rahul] will matter at all. He will become ultimately irrelevant in a short period of time."



Similarly, he felt that "great leaders of our country", including PM Narendra Modi, Home Minister Amit Shah and former PM Indira Gandhi will also be irrelevant in a few decades. "Fifty years from now, I don't think Indira or even the people currently in power will matter. Unless leaders make a lasting contribution to history, they won't be remembered. People might not remember the PM or home minister," he said. "I don't think there's any question about the contributions that people like JRD Tata or Annadurai made to the country. But talking about the people you mentioned [Modi and Shah], I don't think they have made any lasting contributions," he said.

Asked about the softer approach he took towards ex-PM Atal Bihari Vajpayee compared to Modi, he said Vajpayee rose above his party, unlike Modi.

BLT off to a starry start

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

THE Bangalore Literature Festival (BLT) 2022 kicked off with much fanfare on Saturday riding on the presence of prominent figures of the literary world including acclaimed travel writer Pico Iyer, journalist Barkha Dutt, and environmental historian Mahesh Rangarajan, among others.

Iyer started off the event with his keynote speech with a preview to his upcoming book 'The Half Known Life'. "I'm visiting Bengaluru after 48 years, and it's a joy to be back in the city, and especially, for a festival that is bringing people together for years. The big, engaged and enthusiastic crowd is like a validation and a reminder of why and what I do," he shared.

The event, which is set to host 250 authors and speakers over two days, saw milling of thousands of crowds. Adithi Rao, an author, said that the reception that the festival enjoys was largely due to the city's audience who are much more receptive to literary events. Another author, Devika Cariappa, concurred, and said, "I know for a fact that the reading culture in Bengaluru is deep-rooted. There are huge libraries and a plethora of independent bookstores across the city," she said.

SAFETY MANTRA FOR WOMEN AND KIDS

- Check the criminal backgrounds of the staff who are working at present and new recruits, by collecting two KYC documents and papers pertaining to the vehicles they use
- Use Seva Sindhu Portal to check the backgrounds of the new recruits
- Use technology and confirm if the passengers have reached their destinations within the prescribed time
- Get feedback if the order was delivered on time
- Educate people about the Emergency Response Support System (ERSS) number 112 through the company's app, and also put ERSS stickers on vehicles
- Ensure that the company's uniform is not misued. Collect ID cards and other company items from the employees when they quit
- Aggregators should conduct traffic awareness drive in association with traffic police as most delivery agents are found violating traffic rules.
- Appoint nodal officers in each company who will work round-the-clock. During an emergency, these officers will coordinate with customers and the police
- Conduct sensitising programmes for delivery agents about the dos and don'ts since they directly deal with the customers and public
- Take action against delivery agents involved in any untoward incident with customers
- Prevent delivery of prohibited substances through delivery agents or staffers

Police grill two suspended BBMP officers

VOTER DATA THEFT CASE

TWO senior officers of the Bruhat Bengaluru Mahanagara Palike (BBMP), who were suspended after their names cropped up in the voter data theft case, appeared before the Halsuru police after they were served notices. The officials are BBMP Admin Commissioner S Rangappa and Bengaluru Urban Deputy Commissioner K Srinivas. The voter data theft was reported from three assembly constituencies -- Shivajinagar, Chickpete and Mahadevpura.

Earlier, K Srinivas had sought 10 days time through his lawyer, citing health reasons but appeared before the police around 3.30 pm on Saturday. Rangappa appeared before the investigation officers in the morning.

Speaking to TNSE, a senior officer from Central Division Police said, "Both the suspended officers were asked questions related to the voters data tampering case and fake Booth Level Officer (BLO) and Booth Level Committee cards. The officers could not answer convincingly and have asked for more time to reply."

The officer further said that as the officers have not given any satisfactory reply during the investigation, both will have to come at least three more times whenever summoned. The police are quizzing accused number 8 - Maruthi Gowda, and accused number 9 - Abhishek. As many as 13 people have been arrested so far.

Palike may give Kempegowda Jayanthi a miss

The embattled BBMP is unlikely to celebrate Kempegowda Jayanthi this time, as 70 of its officials have been served police notices and four to five officers suspended. Sources said officials are living in fear of getting arrested in the scam. Many related files have not yet been sent to the government for approval. "Also, with BBMP Chief Commissioner Tushar Girinath unwell, the process of clearing files has been hit," said an officer from BBMP Administration Department. Girinath said since he was suffering from urinary tract infection and was admitted to hospital, he has not yet decided on the Kempegowda Jayanthi celebration plans. Meanwhile, Kempegowda Institute of Science (KIMS) Vokkaliga Association president Balakrishna said that the association will once again appeal to Chief Minister Basavaraj Bommai to give his nod for the celebration of Kempegowda Jayanthi at BBMP which has not been held since 2020.

Drugs seized from Escobar-inspired peddlers

CCB sleuths have recovered Rs 25 lakh worth drugs from two tattoo artists-turned-drug peddlers Sigil Varghese, 32, and Vishnupriya, 22, who are natives of Kerala. They have been taken into police custody. The live-in partners, who idolised Columbian drug lord Pablo Escobar, were arrested in Parappana Agrahara, and MDMA tablets and LSD strips worth about Rs 5 lakh were recovered. Along with 100g of MDMA crystals, 150 LSD strips and 25 ecstasy pills, the sleuths also recovered a poster of Escobar from their rented apartment in Chandapura. "The couple wanted to be the next Pablo Escobar. The accused had designed a Russian style of 'treasure hunt' operation and faceless modus-operandi to sell drugs, and avoided any direct contact with their clients. They were sharing pictures, videos and live locations of electric poles, dustbins, trees after placing the drugs so that the buyers can go and pick it up," said the police. They had been earlier arrested in March and hashish oil worth around Rs 7 crore from their rented house in Kothanur. ENS

Leopard sighting: Cops on night patrol advised to exercise caution

CHETAN MG @Bengaluru

FOLLOWING leopard sightings on the outskirts of the city, the police have increased vigil and are coordinating with forest officials.

Police said special instructions have been issued to night patrol personnel working in police stations that have jurisdiction over areas attached to forest patches. An official of the Kengeri police station, where a leopard was sighted, told TNSE that night patrol staff have been advised to exercise caution while patrolling next to forests.

"We have asked the Cheetah (two-wheeler) patrol staff not to go to the outskirts and have restricted their movements only to urban and well-lit localities. The Hoysala (four-wheeler) staff has been instructed to continue with regular patrolling, but not get out of vehicles while on duty near forests," the official said.

"If they sight a leopard, they have been asked to alert the residents nearby not to come out of their houses through public announcement system available in vehicle. Besides, they have been asked to block the entry to the stretch by alerting other vehicle users and asking them to use alternate routes," the official added.

The Thalaghattapura police on the Kanakapura Road have been asked to notify the Forest Department officials as soon as they sight a leopard or get to know of the sighting by the public. "The staff has been asked to alert the control room immediately and the forest department. They are asked to wear reflective jackets on night rounds and to ensure that no public enters the area where the leopard is seen," an officer said.

Similar instructions have been issued to Bannerghatta, Kaggalipura and Kumbalgod police who have jurisdiction over areas on the outskirts of the city.

₹15 LAKH COMPENSATION FOR LEOPARD VICTIMS: CM

Chief Minister Basavaraj Bommai announced a compensation of Rs 15 lakh to the families of leopard attack victims. "It will be on the lines of elephant attack compensation. Earlier, leopards used to be sighted in areas surrounding forest patches, but now they are being seen around Bengaluru," he said adding that the Forest Department is keeping cages and combing areas to trap leopards and relocate them. He added that special teams were being formed to undertake search operations. Meanwhile, though no new leopard sightings were reported in and around Bengaluru on Saturday, the Forest Department received reports of a leopard killing a calf at Kurubahalli in Tavarekere at 5.30 pm on Saturday. A forest official said, "There has been no direct sighting of the leopard, but from the spot inspection, it is concluded that a leopard attacked the calf. It ran away and the injured calf died later. We have also combed areas around Devanahalli and Yelahanka and there have been no signs of leopards. CCTV camera footage of the last three days have also been checked and no leopards has been sighted."

'CONG STANDS UNITED... WE WILL COME BACK WITH MAJORITY'

TEAM TNSE

AS the Opposition Congress prepares to take the battle to the ruling BJP's doorsteps, the party realizes the need to send a message of unity. State Congress president DK Shivakumar, who seems to be making all-out efforts to put a halt to the party's losing streak by bringing it back to power after the 2023 assembly polls, sees reports about differences between him and former CM Siddaramaiah as "a very well-planned political strategy by BJP". During his informal interaction with the The New Sunday Express editors and staff, Shivakumar was at his combative best, speaking on topics ranging from internal differences within the party to strategy for the polls to cases registered against him. Excerpts:

It is portrayed that you and Siddaramaiah don't see eye to eye? Is there anything reconcilable between the two of you?
This is a planned political strategy by the BJP. Can you show me one occasion where we have any differences. I have worked with him. Not a single day have I spoken about anything about his leadership. This inspite of the fact that I was not a part of his government for six months and it is only later that I joined the government. Since BJP is in power, we have 100 issues to talk about, but they do not have any issue to talk about us. Therefore, they're talking about this disunity issue. If there is disunity, please tell us where the difference is between us. There is no difference. Since we are aware of it, we take up all the issues after discussing it together. I have been the most democratic president. I consult everyone since I have been in the organisation for a long time, and then we take a collective decision.

From where will Siddaramaiah contest the Assembly polls? He has applied, hasn't he...?
Siddaramaiah has also applied for a ticket, but has left the decision on which constituency he would contest from to the party high command. Siddaramaiah can win from anywhere in the state ... that is what I feel.

What about you? Is Kanakapura the safest constituency for you?
I have not gone to the constituency (Kanakapura), yet people have voted for me (in the last Assembly polls). They gave me a winning margin of nearly 80,000 votes. (But) There are requests for me to contest from certain coastal constituencies. I have applied only in Kanakapura, from where I plan to contest the polls.

There are observations that you don't have strong candidates in about 80-100 constituencies?
We may not have highly visible candidates in 15-20 constituencies. In the remaining nearly 210 constituencies we have good candidates. In the survey that we have conducted, we are confident that we will reach 140-150 seats. For example, tell me where BJP has strong candidates. In the old Mysore region, there are 67 constituencies where they don't have candidates, but in comparison we have candidates in almost all 224 constituencies. As far as JDS is concerned, they cannot field candidates. Three women (Congress) candidates have won in constituencies where they said Congress was weak — in KGF, Roopkala Shashidhar won, in Khanapur Anjali Nimbalkar won, and Lakshmi Hebbalkar won in a constituency (Belagavi Rural) where they said Congress was weak. Remember, in all these constituencies, we had lost for the past 40-50 years, but they won by a large margin in all these constituencies... we have built our cadres in all the constituencies. We have good candidates against Jagadish Shettar and Bommai too.

Will Gujarat have an impact on Karnataka?
I don't think so...

How much has Rahul Gandhi's 'Bharat Jodo Yatra' helped?
It's an extraordinary effort! The issues taken up will not be wasted. (Rahul Gandhi) Sacrificing the president's post, sacrificing party position, walking 3,500 km, taking up the cause of the people ... it is not easy.

But people say only Rahul Gandhi's image improved. It does not reflect people's greater support for Congress...?
When the election comes, we will know. This is democracy.

BJP is confident of retaining power. Do you feel any of the ruling party leaders will join Congress in the coming days?
When members of the government come out and speak against their own government, what message are they sending? It means all is not well. What did MTB Nagaraj and Basangouda Patil Yatnal (both BJP legislators) say against the government. What did Adagur Vishwanath (also a BJP legislator) say? Whatever they said, everything is on record. Vishwanath spoke about corruption levels. Is it not the voice of the common man?

How serious is the voter ID scam?
It is such a monumental scam. This is the equivalent of printing fake currency notes. The Bengaluru city corporation officials and election commission officials are accountable. They have appointed officials for every assembly segment. They have been given the position of BLO (Block Level Officer), who is an officer sponsored by the government. They have taken 6,800 BJP workers and given them seals and stamps of authority. They have collected the data, misused the data and sold the data. In the whole of Bengaluru city, they have gone around systematically deleting and distorting names and identity details of minority voters and scheduled caste voters lakhs of names have been deleted or tampered with. Let's say a family has five voters. Two voters have remained safe, but three voters have been shifted to some other area a few kilometres away. Our party carried out a survey on the mischief and the deletions carried out. We have seen some more instances of mischief in Kamakshipalya area. The voters are there in the same constituency, but their names have been shifted to an area which is a few kilometres away. They resort to such tactics. For any deletion or inclusion, requisite forms need to be filled up and duly signed by an authorised signatory. Now I want to know: who authorised these deletions and additions?

The BJP has said Chilume was given the contract by the Congress earlier when it was in power?
If anybody in the Congress — whether Siddaramaiah or anyone — has done wrong, let them hang us. What are the terms and references of Congress giving the order to Chilume? Look at the fine print. The chief minister's duty is to protect the voters. Here you are only trying to steal a vote or corrupt a vote. This is a bigger crime than any other crime. The Constitution has given us a right to vote. I don't know why the Election Commission has not taken up a case against the chief minister.

Why do you want the Election Commission to take action against the chief minister?
He is the district minister (Bengaluru Development Minister)... We have still not discussed another key issue here, which is Pandora's box. We will take it up later...

Elections are about 5 to 6 months away. You are confident Congress will come to power. What is your vision for the state?
Firstly, I don't think this government will continue for 5-6 more months. As things could get worse for them (BJP-ruled government)), they are in a hurry. They may not wait for 5 to 6 months (for the polls). They have their own strategy. But coming to what we need to do. People look at India through Bengaluru. The lost image of Bengaluru needs to be restored. People all over the world feel this is one of the best cosmopolitan cities in the country. If Bengaluru is stronger, the nation's economy will be stronger. A large percentage of the exports of India are from Bengaluru and Karnataka. The most important is good governance. Better traffic management is also important, and ensuring comprehensive development of two-tier cities is important so that people need not crowd Bengaluru. The city's population has already touched 1.5 crore. Another important priority is to develop the coastline. For example, Kerala and Goa have a very well-developed sea coast. What stops us from developing our own coastline? Kerala and Goa don't have different rules for development. We have to see that our youth from coastal areas don't go to Mumbai or Saudi or Dubai in search of jobs. We need investments in the coastal areas where people can live and earn their living in this place, and not migrate elsewhere in search of employment.

What about the reservation issue for Vokkaligas?
We had a meeting on this issue, and the Swamiji (Sri Nirmalananda Swamiji of Adichunchunagiri Mutt) chaired the meeting. It is a very serious issue. Some communities have reservations according to their proportion of population. The community is seeking a hike in reservation from 4% to 12%. The Swamiji was convincing me that we have just 4% reservation, in which others have joined. So, our actual reservation is just 2%. Our numbers are more, they have discussed this for more than four-five months and informed Chief Minister Bommai about why the reservation of Vokkaligas should be increased. They have given the chief minister a deadline and I think they have logical reasons why Vokkaligas should be accommodated with sufficient reservation. There was a cap by the Supreme Court. Now (after the reservation for economically weaker sections) there is a different dimension to reservation.

How are you facing the number of cases registered against you?
The I-T (Income Tax department), ED (Enforcement Directorate), CBI (Central Bureau of Investigation) have been targeting me after the election of late Ahmed Patel, MP (in the Rajya Sabha elections). Income tax officers with 370 CRPF (Central Reserve Police Force) constables raided my house. After that they filed so many more cases against me, my friends and my family members. More than 100 raids have taken place. Every month, I have to spend nearly 14-15 days only on this. They want me to go to court. For example, I wanted to go to Dubai for a day. They have laid down conditions that in Dubai I should not influence people — I should not speak to X person, I should not speak to Y person, they have imposed many conditions. There is an element of pain and torture in all this, but there is no option, I have to face them. Legally speaking, injustice will not flow from the seat of justice.

How many cases have been filed...?
When I file my affidavit you will know....

Are you vengeful? Tomorrow if you come to power as Chief minister, what will you do?
The past is gone, the future is not in our hands. We only have the present. So let's talk about the present.

The Congress MLAs are continuously getting poached?
We also had this plan and BJP MLAs were willing to come with us but we did not want it. When the government was on the verge of collapsing, I told the then CM HD Kumaraswamy and CLP leader Siddaramaiah about this issue but they were not in favour of it. Anyway the Congress party will get an absolute majority. No one will think of leaving the party...

If you did not become a politician what did you want to be when you were young?

Need to up coal yield for energy security: Joshi

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

UNION Minister of Coal, Mines and Parliamentary Affairs Pralhad Joshi on Saturday said that the current contribution of the mining sector in the country's GDP is 0.9% and added that Prime Minister Narendra Modi has set a target to enhance it to 2.5% by 2030 as there is a huge potential in the sector. He said there is a need to step up coal production to meet the country's growing energy security needs.

Chairing the 'Investors' conclave on commercial coal mines auction and opportunities in the mining sector', Joshi welcomed investors to invest in the sector saying the ministry has brought in reforms, including auctioning 500 mines in a phased manner.

"PM Modi has given a go ahead that regardless which party is in power in the states, they have to be backed to tap the potential in the mining sector. It has worked out in Odisha as the CM there is proactive and has been in constant touch with us for the last 3-4 years to implement projects. As a result, Odisha collected Rs 5,000 crore revenue during 2014-15 and has now earned Rs 50,000 crore of which it has deposited Rs 10,000 crore as balancing reserve fund in the RBI," he added.

He said the Union Government has made several reforms in the mining sector such as removing the distinction between captive and non-captive mines by amending the Mines and Mineral Development and Regulation (MMDR) Act 1957 to ensure ease of doing business. "The transfer of clearances of the previous lessee to the successful bidder is made easy as they need not apply for as many as 21 NOCs afresh during the transfer of the lease," he said.

The country is poised to produce 900 MT of coal in the current year and it is expected to touch 1,000 MT next year, Joshi elaborated.

Chief Minister Basavaraj Bommai said that Karnataka will emerge as the largest producer of iron ore in the world in the next 4-5 years as a big steel plant is situated in the state. Earlier there used to be exploitation and the courts had to intervene so that the mines could be explored. The State is now guided by the Supreme Court and NGT guidelines in allocation and mining of iron ore mines, he said.

He informed that a number of companies have submitted proposals to resume mining in Kolar Gold Fields. He said mining companies are welcome to take up mining in Karnataka and help the state to mop up revenue. and the government will support the investors shoulder to shoulder support to the investors in the mining sector to mop up revenue.

"They need to maintain a balance between exploration and exploitation and that will help to achieve stability which is very important. The sector has the potential to generate 5,000 jobs," he said.

JOSHI MEETS CHIEFS OF POWER GENCOS

Joshi also chaired a meeting with principal secretaries of Karnataka, Andhra Pradesh, Telangana and Tamil Nadu which was attended by the chairmen of Karnataka Power Corporation, Andhra Pradesh GenCo, Tamil Nadu Generation & Distribution Corporation and Telangana State Power GenCo. In a detailed discussion on overcoming challenges to further enhance coal supplies to TPPs, he urged Power GenCos to improve lifting off coal through road-cum-rail mode. "The double-engine Centre and State is ensuring that the mining sector in Karnataka is thriving to become a growth driver. Karnataka ranks second in auctioning of blocks after Odisha. Twenty-five mineral blocks are in the pipeline for auctioning. Urged the State to expedite their auctions," Joshi said.

India believes in peace, not war: Rajnath Singh

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

UNION Defence Minister Rajnath Singh has said that India believes in peace and has never created trouble for other countries. "We have never attacked anyone... however, also never spared anyone creating any injustice or oppression towards our country," he said at the inauguration of Gita Dana Yajna Mahotsava organised by The International Society for Krishna Consciousness (Iskcon) in Bengaluru on Saturday.

He said India is equipped to ensure that any oppressor faces consequences if she is harassed in any way. He asserted that India never favours violence, but cannot remain neutral to injustices and oppression. Singh said the philosophy is in alignment with that of the Bhagavad Gita.

He called the Bhagavad Gita the source for resolving all problems in life. He said a person will not need self help books if he or she reads the Bhagavad Gita.

He also referred to the Bhagavad Gita as a Gyan Ganga - providing knowledge for years.

In lieu of celebrations, Iskcon, Bengaluru, has said that it will distribute one lakh copies of the Bhagavad Gita in December.

The YouTube version of the Bhagavad Gita's musical chants were also launched at the inaugural function with translation in six different languages.

Chief Minister Basavaraj Bommai called the Bhagavad Gita a blend of science and spirituality which was meant to uplift mankind. He called it the 'Song of God' sung by Lord Krishna.

He also praised Rajnath and Prime Minister Narendra Modi's efforts in making India self-reliant in the defence sector as 60% of ammunition is now produced in India. He added that India will soon be in the top five exporter list for ammunition worldwide.

Former CM BS Yediyurappa, Revenue Minister R Ashoka, MP Tejasvi Surya and actor Sapthami Gowda were also present.

Probe allocation of Datta Peeta land to Congress leaders: CT Ravi

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

BJP general secretary and MLA CT Ravi on Saturday demanded a probe into the allocation of land belonging to Dattatreya Peeta in Chikkamagaluru district allegedly to Congress leaders.

Speaking to mediapersons in Bengaluru, Ravi said before the government enacted the law to give land to the tiller, 1,861 acres was there in the name of Dattatreya Peeta, but it was illegally allotted to some Congress leaders during the Congress rule. Ravi demanded a detailed probe into it and urged the government to rescind the land allocation.

The MLA said the government has kept its word on the Datta Peeta issue by constituting the management committee as decided by the cabinet sub-committee as per the court order and has taken measures to appoint a priest. The BJP leader said conspiracy to gobble the temple land was the reason for Congress leaders opposing Datta Jayanti celebrations and the government must appoint a committee consisting of state-level officers to probe the irregularities.

Accusing former chief minister Siddaramaiah of rejecting the responsibility of appointing a Hindu priest, the BJP leader said the former CM should apologise to the people of Karnataka.

Ravi, who had campaigned for BJP in Gujarat and Himachal Pradesh elections, said the party will win elections in both states.

Maha min says no change in plan, will visit Belagavi

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Belagavi

A day after Chief Minister Basavaraj Bommai attempted to put brakes on the visit Maharashtra cabinet ministers Chandrakant Patil and Shambhuraj Desai to Belagavi amid the ongoing border row, Patil has announced on Saturday that his visit to Belagavi is already confirmed and that he will be in the city on December 6 as planned.

Speaking to reporters in Mumbai on Saturday, Patil said he has so far not received fax or letter from Bommai. Patil said he has been invited to Belagavi to attend several programmes on the occasion of Dr B R Ambedkar Mahaparinirvan Din on December 6.

Patil said he will be visiting the families of those who died in clashes that took place over the boundary dispute in the past. The minister will also be garlanding the statues of Chatrapathi Shivaji Maharaj and Dr BR Ambedkar in Belagavi city.

Patil further said he will also discuss with leaders in Belagavi about the facilities which the Maharashtra government could possibly extend to the Marathi people in 865 border villages in Karnataka.

According to sources, Patil will be holding meetings with several pro-Maharashtra leaders in Belagavi ahead of the Supreme Court hearing.

Bommai had recently said that it was not advisable for the two Maharashtra ministers to visit Belagavi at this juncture.

KRV CHIEF IN BELAGAVI ON DEC 6

President of Karnataka Rakshana Vedike T A Narayanagowda has decided to visit Belagavi on December 6, the same day when the two Maharashtra ministers will reach the city. According to sources, he has decided to come to Belagavi to "protect the larger interests of Kannadigas in the city."

'Pani Puri' Manja holds stir, seeks entry into BJP

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Mysuru

IN the wake of history-sheeters like Fighter Ravi, Silent Sunil and Bettanagere Shankara joining BJP and aspiring to contest in the coming assembly elections from the saffron party, a history-sheeter from Mysuru held a protest demanding the BJP leaders to admit him to the party.

Manju alias 'Pani Puri' Manja, a resident of Ganesh Nagar, who have one case in Metagalli and four in Udayagiri police station limits and rowdy-sheeter registered in Udayagiri police station, held protest near Gandhi Statue in front of district courts on Saturday demanding entry into the saffron party.

Holding a banner with pictures of Adichunchanagiri Mutt former seer Balagangadharanatha Swamy, Siddaganga Mutt former seer Shivakumara Swami, Kanaka Dasa, Valmik and Dr BR Ambedkar on the top, Pani Puri Manja had printed his demand which stated that, "BJP leaders. I am a rowdy sheeter. Give me a position in your party.'

MP Shashi Tharoor arrives to inaugurate a meeting of the Youth Congress in Erattupetta, Kerela, on Saturday | EXPRESS

Congress edgy as Tharoor begins 2nd round of tour

ABHILASH CHANDRAN @ Kottayam

AFTER his successful Malabar tour, which ruffled quite a few feathers in the state Congress, Shashi Tharoor began his next leg of the 'public outreach' programme in Central Travancore, attending various events in Kottayam district and meeting catholic bishops.

The Thiruvananthapuram MP, who arrived in the district to inaugurate a mega meet of Indian Youth Congress (YC), was given a rousing reception in Erattupetta town. Endorsing his acceptance among the youth, hundreds of people participated in the procession held in the night in the town.

However, Tharoor's participation in the YC event has not gone down well with the party district leadership. While Kottayam DCC president Nattakom Suresh hit out at Tharoor, alleging that he was not informed about the MP's visit to the district, Thiruvanchoor Radhakrishnan, MLA, skipped the Youth Congress programme. Thiruvanchoor cited the reason that being the chairman of the party disciplinary committee, his participation in the event may be interpreted in a wrong way. However, Tharoor, who is well aware that the sword of party discipline hangs over him, tactfully dismissed all the 'concerns' of the party's district leadership. "I have been an MP for 14 years and it is a routine practice to intimate the DCC concerned during my visit there. There is no lapse on my part or that of my office regarding the Youth Congress programme in Erattupetta," said Tharoor.

Though the Youth Congress programme was the highlight of the visit, Tharoor extended his 'support base' widening activities, which he commenced during his Malabar visit, to the Central Travancore by visiting Catholic bishops in Kanjirappally and Pala on day one.

In a bid to woo the support of the Latin community, a consistent vote bank in his constituency, Tharoor will attend a meeting organised by the Christian Service Society International, an organisation which has the backing of the Latin Catholic community in Kochi on Sunday. His participation in the event assumes significance in the backdrop of his pro-Vizhinjam port stand, to which the Latin Church had aired its open dissent.

PANDEMONIUM AT MURUGHA MUTT OVER APPOINTMENT OF NEW SEER

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Chitradurga

PANDEMONIUM prevailed at a meeting of the Veerashiva-Lingayat community members which was held to discuss the appointment of an administrator or new seer to the Murugha Mutt in the wake of the mutt's pontiff Dr Shivamurthy Murugha Sharanaru going behind bars over POCSO charges. Former minister H Ekanthaiah chaired the meeting which was held at the memorial of former CM S Nijalingappa at Seebara.

When the issue of the appointment of administrator came up for discussion, Karthik, a youth, raised objections saying that there was no need for it. This led to noisy scenes at the meeting for sometime. Karthik received support from some people who were present at the meeting. Incidents of manhandling also took place and the police had to intervene to bring the situation under control.

Later, addressing the gathering, Ekanthaiah said the Veerashiva Mahasabha members from all 30 districts will hold a padayatra in Chitradurga and then stage a dharna in front of the Murugha Mutt to demand the appointment of a new seer.

As the present pontiff is behind bars since three months, the religious and social activities of the mutt and the administration of educational institutions run by the mutt are being adversely affected. There is a need for a new seer to take charge so as to ensure the smooth functioning of the mutt's activities, he added.

Ekanthaiah also criticised the government saying despite submitting a memorandum to the government requesting it to appoint an administrator, no action has been been initiated.

He also said that the Veerashiva Mahasabha of Chitradurga was planning to take the legal route if its demands are not met.

INTERIM BAIL GRANTED TO THIRD ACCUSED

The Juvenile Justice Board (JJB) of Chitradurga on Saturday granted bail to a minor and third accused in the POCSO case in which the pontiff of Murugha Mutt Dr Shivamurthy Murugha Sharanaru is the first accused. The JJB, which heard the bail plea of the third accused, Basavaditya Swamiji, granted him bail with certain conditions like appearing before the court in the presence of his counsel. Basavaditya Swamiji was appointed by Dr Shivamurthy Murugha Sharanaru as his successor in May.

GO issued to launch e-offices

THE government order has been issued, directing the implementation of e-offices across Karnataka starting from Raitha Samparka Kendras at Hobli level to the head office in Bengaluru.

The order stressed that all offices under the agriculture department — including those of joint directors, deputy directors, assistant directors — district training centres, laboratories, Raitha Samparka Kendras will be completely digitised. Stock records, office meetings, measurement records, distribution to beneficiaries among all the other processes, will also be digitised completely, with an aim to make it a completely paperless department.

In Karnataka, the department has a database of over 53 lakh farmers IDs (FID) which is linked to Aadhaar and Pahani (land records).

"Presently, if a farmer buys seeds, he has to enter it in a register and sign. It is a tedious job for officials to maintain the data. With a barcode system, it will become paperless and the farmers can do it remotely," the official said.

TTD cancels privileged darshan

Tirupati: Tirumala Tirupati Devasthanams (TTD) has cancelled all formats of privileged darshans and Arjitha sevas between January 2 and 11 next year to facilitate Vaikunta Dwara Darshan to common pilgrims, executive officer Dharma Reddy said on Saturday. The Trust Board is planning to provide darshan to at least 80,000 devotees under the Special Entry Darshan and Slotted Sarva Darshan apart from other categories during the 10-day period. TTD executive officer (EO) Dharma Reddy on Saturday said, "The auspicious Vaikunta Ekadasi occurs on January 2 and Vaikunta Dwadasi on January 3, 2023. However, like the last two years, devotees will be allowed to have Vaikunta Dwara Darshan for 10 days till January 11." ENS

PDS plaints: HC raps govt over allotment of fair price shops

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

ANGUISHED over deluge of cases pertaining to public distribution system, especially allotment of fair price shops or cards to a particular fair price shop, the Karnataka High Court directed the Commissioner of Food, Civil Supplies and Consumer Affairs to look into the issue and resolve it.

Justice M Nagaprasanna passed the order while partly allowing the petition filed by B Manjunath, a specially-abled person from Doddabidarakallu, questioning the cancellation of fair price allotted to him by the Appellate Authority on a appeal filed by Rajajinagar Sastha's Women Association.

"Indiscriminate allotment of fair price shops or discriminate distribution of cards has led to this problem. The authorities while allotting the cards should seek to maintain the terms in clause 11 of the order which directs that there should be 800 cards to a fair-price shop in the urban area and 500 in the rural area," the court observed.

Referring to a communication from the Commissioner to Deputy Directors to exercise caution and allot fair price shops only after verification of documents, the court said this remains only on paper. After every allotment, there will be a complaint, and those come before the court through writ petitions, the court said.

The government advocate said that the policy is 'one nation, one ration card', and card holders can pick up their ration from any fair price depot, to which the court said that the state, to take the policy forward, is taking away ration cards from one and giving it to another, at the whim and fancy of the officers of Deputy Director or other officers-in-charge of such distribution.

The court remitted back the appeal to the Appellate Authority.

Day after boy's death, PHC medical officer suspended

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Bengaluru

FOLLOWING the tragic death of a five-year-old boy at the Kodigenhalli public health centre in Madhugiri taluk, Tumakuru district, on Friday, the Health and Family Welfare Department has suspended a medical officer and the ambulance driver.

It is said that Dr Rohit D, administrative medical officer, was not present at the centre during the duty period, causing the death of the child by not ensuring timely medical care.

The child, Abu, had fallen into a sump and suffocated. He was brought to the PHC which was said to be running 24/7. The doctor was not present at the hospital and the child died without receiving treatment.

Sreenappa, emergency vehicle driver at the PHC, was also suspended for negligence of duty for not answering the call while not on duty.

D Randeep, commissioner, Health and Family Welfare Services issued an order on Saturday suspending Dr Rohit on charges of dereliction of duty and negligence.

EC CREDIBILITY AND THE MISSING SESHAN EFFECT

FREQUENTLY, governments confronted with questions of propriety have been haunted by and taunted with the ancient Roman axiom 'Caesar's wife must be above suspicion'.

The adage found its way back into the Indian political discourse last week as a five-judge Constitution Bench of the Supreme Court heard a petition calling for a review of the mechanism for the appointment of Election Commissioners and Chief Election Commissioner at the Election Commission.

The immediate provocation is what has been described as the "hurried" appointment of Arun Goel as Election Commissioner. While the government responded by stating that the appointment followed a 'time-tested convention' the petitioners are arguing for a collegium-type body including for the appointment of the ECs and CEC.

The ideal, as per the Constitution, is that the CEC be empowered with a six-year term and removal possible only by impeachment as in the case of a judge. Unfortunately, regimes have leveraged the punctuated gaps in the provisions to skirt the ideal. The bench pointed out that no CEC has completed the stipulated tenure of six years since 2004. There were six CECs during the ten-year UPA rule and seven in the eight years of NDA.

shankkar.aiyar@gmail.com

A quarter of a century after he demitted office, Tirunellai Narayana Iyer Seshan, who read the riot act to political parties, continues to be the gold standard. There is no denying public expectation of the 'Seshan effect' at the helm. It is said justice must be seen to be done. Similarly, conduct of elections must be seen to be truly free and fair.

The pleas before the apex court arise from perceptions of inadequacies and the approach of the Election Commission on an array of issues.

The parties in Opposition have, for over a decade, questioned the timing and arrangement of voting phases. More serious is the discernible public disquiet over the accommodation of political practices by the Commission. Activists have illuminated faultlines and listed a number of issues, many of which remain unattended.

These include the presence of candidates with criminal records, the use and abuse of money and muscle power, misuse of administrative mechanisms by governments in power, political advertisements, manipulation of media coverage and more. The issues have been highlighted by a succession of committees - the Indrajit Gupta Committee, the Tarkunde Committee, the Goswami Committee, and the Vohra Committee. The imperative for reforms has also been illustrated in the 170th Report and the 255th Report of the Law Commission.

Every election arrives with statistics on the number of candidates with criminal records. Many of these are indeed cases originating from political agitations, but there is no escaping the reality of candidates accused of heinous crimes contesting and winning elections. While expense limits for candidates have been enhanced, they do not match ground realities. The humongous rise in election expenses is manifest in the landscape. One stark feature underlining the role of money is the data on cash seizures during elections. The 2019 Lok Sabha polls witnessed the seizure of ₹3,456 crore. In the recent assembly polls, just in Gujarat, cash, drugs, freebies and metals worth ₹290 crore were seized by November 30.

Prima facie, the Commission monitors the expenditure of candidates, but public opinion is sceptical of due diligence. The 255th Report of the Law Commission quotes scathing observations made by Courts on the role of money power. It bears note that while government policies discourage the use of cash in daily life, the role of cash in politics is unfettered as candidates and political parties continue accepting donations in cash. What is troubling is that the new electoral bonds scheme, pending judicial scrutiny in the Supreme Court, shields donors and parties and denies the electorate a view on who is being funded by whom.

The Commission's status under the Constitution obliges it to propel electoral reforms across parties of political persuasion. It has struggled to build consensus. Governance is interrupted by the annual parade of polls. Simultaneous polls may be difficult, but why not consolidate it as this column suggested and hold it every two and half years? The explosion of the internet and social media renders old norms about campaign stops obsolete and calls for the recasting of rules. The freebie culture affects fiscal prudence and threatens economic security. The EC has left the field open for political parties to promise freebies. As this column observed, the critical factor is the need to align public expenditure with a public and not political purpose. It must step in to order transparency on how parties will fund freebies and their impact on existing welfare.

Elections in India can be safely divided into before Seshan and after Seshan. No doubt there was political pushback. His powers sought to be diluted. Yet Seshan made a difference. He deployed the letter and the spirit of the law to install order and credibility. Yes, appointments and empowerment matter, but so does commitment. Beyond the legal scaffolding Seshan earned stature in the court of the people. What is sorely missing is the intent and the Seshan effect.

MANIPULATION OR MESSAGE

'THE KASHMIR FILES' IS DISGUISED AS A FILM

OPINION

NADAV LAPID

Israeli Filmmaker and Head, IFFI jury

I don't regret what I said about The Kashmir Files. I had the feeling it needed to be stated. At a certain level, the way things turned out, I think my intuition was right; these words needed to be spoken.

I live in Paris, and I'm not a part of the Indian reality. I went for a short visit for jury duty and couldn't have imagined it would all turn out this way. But in two-three days, all this will be forgotten.

The story is not about me. It's not even about the film, The Kashmir Files. The real question is something different. People can disagree with me and believe I have no idea what I'm talking about. They can think the worst about me. People can like or dislike or admire or hate a movie. All of this is valid, and I'm not against an emotional, engaged discussion. However, a big part of the reactions to what I said was sheer madness.

At the end of the day, it's your country, it's your society, but I ask whether you are scared to speak your truths because it results in a storm of violence and menace. I saw and read things in the media and wondered if it is normal to react to a film critique in this manner.

There are other films I might have disliked, but for me, The Kashmir Files is a fake film. It is a propaganda film. It behaves as though it is trying to create a piece of art about life, existence, historical events, about a moment in time, about human beings—as most movies do.

But in the end, it is just promoting—in my opinion—in an extremely vulgar and cheap way, an evident set of political positions, using a variety of, what I consider, extremely cheap cinematic manipulations.

Cinematically, I cannot take this film seriously. From the outside, it seems like a kind of joke. But the fact that this film has been treated extremely seriously by its makers—and by many people who watched it—and the decision of the International Film Festival of India to include it in its most prestigious international competition section... you feel forced to take a stand on it.

Form is content, and content is form when it comes to the arts. The formal, aesthetic decisions also possess an ideological meaning. In the case of The Kashmir Files, I don't have any way or tools to judge how many people died or the number of victims. I don't have the capacity to tell you how many were executed.

I can't tell whether these horrific things that are shown in the movie really took place. The question then for me is to ask whether these horrific things needed to be picturised as they have been in such a film. In the film, the bad guys get portrayed in a typically bad way. They are not human beings but a caricature of bad people. Even the worst humans are convinced that they are right. For me, this is what turns life into a conflict—one so complicated and terrible. You don't get this feeling in the film at all. You can easily identify the agenda, and it is executed and set up in such a vulgar way. I say that if you are making such a propaganda movie, at least do it with elegance.

Some think of Battleship Potemkin by Sergei Eisenstein as a propaganda movie, but it's a masterpiece. Leni Riefenstahl served the most hideous and terrible ideas in the history of humanity, but you cannot ignore the fact that there were fascinating patterns in her cinema. The films were compelling and charismatic.

In fact, I am not against propaganda films that expose themselves as propaganda films. When an artist is a real believer in an ideology, he creates it in a very explicit way, like an aesthetic monument, to serve that ideology. This is the magic of art. There are artists out there who, whenever they use their camera, create magic. I'm not talking about the moral aspect of propaganda but the aesthetics of the cinema.

The Kashmir Files is disguised as a film, but it's not a real film. It is a problematic meeting point of vulgarity in taste and a certain ideology.

I don't know how people, who have been separated from their homes or relatives, and who have been through these atrocities would react to such a movie. There are all kinds of reactions. But if I had been connected to such an atrocity, the last thing that I would have wanted is a film like The Kashmir Files to represent my voice. I would prefer something more serious.

It's certainly not my hobby to offend people, but I think sometimes, outrage and offence are easy tools to silence critical thought and artistic discourse. We are not children. I would think that the role of art is not just to make people feel comfortable and nice. Art must be biting and, sometimes, harsh and offensive. Do it with intelligence and style, not with stupid vulgarity.

My films are often considered political, and I don't think they are political in a classical way. In my films, people have very determined ideas, but I don't think that the films themselves are driven by an idea. It shows people with ideas. People talk about their ideas in my films the same way that they dance, or think, or kiss.

Although I have my own political ideas, I am extremely fascinated to see films that come from the opposite ideological camp. Right-wing films, left-wing films; I don't think of films as political parties, but I do think it's healthy for artists not to be caressed by the regime. So, I think, in a way, it's logical for artists to find themselves at a distance or in conflict with the regime.

'YOUR OPPONENT'S FILM IS ALWAYS PROPAGANDA'

OPINION

VIVEK AGNIHOTRI

Director, The Kashmir Files

MY film, The Kashmir Files, was screened in the 'Indian Panorama' section at the 53rd International Film Festival of India (IFFI) in Goa. I was in Los Angeles for an urgent visit that week, so I could not attend this screening. However, Mr Anupam Kher went on our behalf. I was later told by the IFFI management that the theatre was jam-packed and that over 300 people crammed into that small hall to make my film a festival blockbuster. All the same, I am not surprised by the comments made by jury head Nadav Lapid during his closing ceremony speech. I have not seen his films, but I know his credentials. He is a Palestine supporter. He believes in 'Free Kashmir'. He believes Kashmir is an occupied territory under India. What has irked me about his comments is how unprecedented it is. Every film festival requires that the jury sign a bond with the Government of India—I know this because I have been on many constitutional juries in India—that they will not say anything to hurt the sovereignty of the nation or the feelings of its people. In fact, some jury members have said they don't approve of Nadav's comments. They simply didn't know. I know from the most reliable authority that the comments approved by the management were different. At the last minute, he made changes in Hebrew.

He called my film 'vulgar propaganda', a 'cinematic manipulation'. I don't know what he means. Can you make films without manipulation? Background music, acting, cinematography... it's all manipulation. Nadan has made an ignorant, illiterate, hateful statement. If he meant 'political manipulation', well, it's a political film. Is it a crime to make political films? The issue is he believes that the Indian state has forcefully occupied Kashmir. He said in an interview that this film reminds him of the Israeli situation. He has equated Palestine with Kashmir.

What is vulgar about my film? I challenge anybody in the world to prove that the events depicted in the film did not happen. If they prove this, I will stop making movies. He said the film has 'fascist features'. What is a fascist film? I have shown Yasin Malik killing people. He's in prison now, having confessed to his crimes of terror. Weren't Indian Air Force officers killed? Weren't their pictures printed in national newspapers?

When a film is from your opponent, you denounce it as a 'propaganda film'. When a film challenges you ideologically and exposes you, you call it 'propaganda'. I am a student of Mass Communication from IIMC, New Delhi. Having been in advertising most of my life, I can tell you that 'propaganda' happens in return for payment when they promote an ideology or image. The Kashmir Files talks about Kashmiri Pandits who were butchered. If you seek proof, notice that no Kashmiri Hindus live in Kashmir anymore. They all live in refugee camps in Jammu. I find it ridiculous that people cannot see something so obvious.

I interviewed 700 victims all over the world on video for The Kashmir Files. I will publish them now as a web series or a film called The Kashmir Files Unreported. People have been commissioned, and one-third of the work is over. Beyond just interviews, this film will contain literature and documentation to clear people's ignorance. At the time when this tragedy occurred, the police stations were shut in Kashmir. When women were raped, and men were cut in pieces, there were no cops. In fact, I have testimonies from sons about their father being cut into pieces, collected in a sack, and thrown in front of a police station because it was a safe place for murderers at the time. Kashmiri Pandits ran in fear and could not file FIRs. It's a crisis of empathy that our media, our filmmakers, and our intellectuals are doubting these facts.

I am also accused of profiteering from a tragedy. They ask what I have done for Kashmiri Pandits. I am an integral part of the global Kashmiri Pandit diaspora. They have given me a second name, 'Vivek Kaul'. We have been helping their community since before the release of The Kashmir Files. I don't share this because I find it vulgar. We have been providing books and clothes to children in Jagti Camp and helped them during Covid-19. We organised global fundraisers, and the donations went to a KP foundation. Even the film, The Kashmir Files, was made with our own money. Pallavi (Joshi, actor and co-producer) and I are the smallest partners. There's also Abhishek Agarwal and ZEE Studios. The film was sold at a premium for distribution.

When people hear figures like ₹350 crores, they don't understand that the shares get divided, and there's interest to be paid. I am using the money I got to make a film called The Vaccine War. I have opened a huge research cell and employed young, hungry people. I'm grooming them so more films like The Kashmir Files can be made.

I want to ask another question—did they show the other side in Schindler's List? My film begins with a Muslim boy saving his Hindu friend from bullies. In genocide, there are only two sides: the victims and the perpetrators. All the 'good people' started showing up after 1995. On 19 January 1990, nobody gave shelter to the Pandits. They fled. Have they shown this side in films like Haider and Fanaa? My film even has a dialogue at the end about moderate Muslims being killed. There were Gujjars, Dalits and Sikhs too, who were killed. Are my opponents not practising selective secularism and selective empathy? It's time to end these discussions.

Apropos of Govt does U-turn, says OK with central forces (Dec 3). The late reaction and delayed wisdom on part of the LDF government in the aftermath of an unprecedented attack on the Vizhinjam police station by the fishermen community against the seaport project was deplorable. If the government acted proactively from the beginning, the situation might not have snowballed and vitiated to this extent, in which the Latin Church and jihadi elements have played a crucial role. The attack on Hindu houses and business establishments, who supported the project was unwarranted. By allowing central forces the LDF has nothing to lose, while it will send a clear message to the conspirators that their designs against the project and the country will not bear fruit.

Moreover, Gandhi's legacy of peace and non-violence coupled with recent assertion by PM Modi that this is 'No Era for War' assumes paramount importance in present context witnessing attack over hapless Ukraine by Russia for no valid reason violating all international laws while UN exists merely as inactive or impassive on account of peculiar reasons. It is unfortunate and condemnable in no uncertain terms that some fringe elements with dubious motives are trying to smear the reputation of the place of learning JNU with their anti-brahmin propaganda. Apropos of Rising juvenile sexual assaults alarming (Dec 2), the menace of rapes and sexual assaults of women have grown to such propensity that it inflicts a ghastly feeling with such news items every morning. Irrespective of age, the reasons for proclivity to indulge in such unwarranted crimes might be attributed to (a) the patriarchal and male-dominated society where an aggressive mindset towards women gets developed and encouraged since childhood; (b) easy accessibility of porn contents and (c) ever-increasing movies and serials showcasing sexual assaults on women, aiming commercial success. Governments roles apart, the much-needed respite and reform have to come from the parental society and teacher communities in shattering the patriarchal mindset ingrained in the male children and inculcate a sense of respect and empathy towards the female community as a whole.

Navy pushes for Vikrant-like aircraft carrier

Indian Navy to forgo plans to have IAC-2, is pushing for a repeat order of IAC-1, inducted recently as INS Vikrant

MAYANK SINGH @New Delhi

THE Indian Navy has decided to forgo the plan to have the bigger Indigenous Aircraft Carrier (IAC-2) and is pushing for the repeat order of the Indigenous Aircraft Carrier (IAC-1) inducted recently as Indian Naval Ship Vikrant.

Addressing mediapersons ahead of the Indian Navy Day 2022 in New Delhi, Navy chief Admiral R Hari Kumar said: "On IAC-2, we are still working on what size it should be and what are the capabilities that are desired, etc. Right now we have put a hold on it because we had just commissioned Vikrant. We are happy with the ship, the way it performed in the trials. A lot of expertise has been gained in building IAC-1 at the Cochin shipyard, and ancillary industries have come up."

He added: "We are also examining if we should repeat order an IAC-1 instead of going for an IAC-2 to capitalise on the expertise available in the country and how we can plough back into the economy. This is in the discussion stage and we have not made up our mind nor taken it to the government."

The recently-inducted Indian Naval Ship Vikrant

The Navy has been pushing for a third aircraft carrier, weighing 65,000 tonnes, with a nuclear-propulsion system. The IAC2 would have been able to house 55 aircraft, including 35 fixed-wing combat aircraft and 20 rotary wing aircraft.

An aircraft carrier, the officer said, adds to the surge capability as the fighter jets operating from land will always have their limitations.

As reported earlier by this newspaper, the officials had said, given the Chinese belligerence in the Indian Ocean, the country will have to extend air power into far-off areas like the Malacca Strait on one side and Gulf of Aden on the other. "Concentration of force is a principle of war. If you have two operationally ready carriers, you can be active in two areas. If needed, you can move it, bringing a different environment to the battle," an official had said.

'Funding constraints behind change in plans'

According to sources in the Navy, "The idea of junking off the IAC2 project is due to the funding constraint. It would have required over ₹50,000 crore for life cycle cost for 40 years." As per the officials, the push for having three aircraft carrier has been with an aim that "you need to have two aircraft carriers in operation while another one in maintenance." It suits the operational requirements given the situation with China and Pakistan.

The IAC-2 would have been equipped with a catapult assisted take-off but arrested recovery (CATOBAR) aircraft launch system. It is a system used for the launch and recovery of aircraft from the deck of an aircraft carrier.

Currently, the Navy has two aircraft carriers – INS Vikramaditya and INS Vikrant. But INS Vikrant is yet to get operationalised in the waters. Both the carriers are short take-off but arrested recovery (STOBAR) designs, using an angled bow/ski-jump to provide additional lift for embarked aircraft on take-off.

Sources in the Navy said: "The idea of junking off the IAC2 project is due to the funding constraint. It would have required over ₹50,000 crore for life cycle cost for 40 years."

As per officials, the push for having three aircraft carrier has been with an aim that "you need to have two aircraft carriers in operation while another one in maintenance." It suits the operational requirements given the situation with China and Pakistan.

The Navy has been working towards being a gender neutral force and Kumar said that 3,000 Agniveers joined the Sailors training facility at INS Chilka last month, including 341 women. He added that from next year women officers will be inducted across all branches.

Speaking on the presence of Chinese ships, research vessels and fishing ships in the Indian Ocean Region, he said, "We always keep an eye and ensure that they do not undertake any inimical activities."

IOA BATON IN HAND, RACE TURNS A FRESH CORNER

INDRANEEL DAS @Chennai

SOURAV ROY

IN October 2009, there was an episode that reflected the plight Indian athletes often have to endure after retirement. P T Usha, the legendary sprinter, while narrating her ordeal, broke down in front of reporters. The story went like this. She reached the airport and was made to wait. Later, she was shunted between Sports Authority of India hostels and finally, when she was given accommodation, she was asked to share a room with other players.

Usha quietly refused the offer and checked into a hotel close to the stadium. "How can you expect sportspersons to win medals when a person like me is treated this way?," she had asked then. Irony was that the same SAI hostel, according to her, had her photograph framed on its wall. The incident perhaps is deeply etched on her mind.

When Usha takes over as the Indian Olympic Association president after the election process gets over on December 10, she would want to avoid a similar predicament, not just for retired athletes but also for those who are still active — Olympians to grassroots. Her agony was not for being given a shared accommodation, but for the shabby treatment meted out to an athlete of her stature. This also showed that the organisers or the persons involved either did not respect her achievements or did not care.

Now, as a sports administrator, the roles will be reversed. All eyes will be on her to bring sanity to the country's most powerful sports organisation (other than the BCCI, of course).

A somebody. An athlete. A coach. And now a sports administrator. Of course, a legend too! In the race of life, the progression seems natural, just like her career in running. Until the 1984 Los Angeles Olympics, she had barely run 400 m hurdles. In fact, Usha was not even a name associated with athletics. She had participated in the Moscow Olympics at the age of 16, the youngest Indian athlete at that time.

It was not until when she blazed the track and missed the bronze by a hundredth of a second, that the country woke up and took notice of this lanky athlete from Kerala, coached by OM Nambiar. The two had shared a unique bonding from the day he picked her up during a school meet in Kannur way back in 1977. From dusty and bald grounds to cinder and synthetic tracks, Usha started to bloom.

Athletics then was not a vocation pursued by many, and for women, it was a rarity. Coming from a modest background, Usha took up the sport by chance. Like she used to say, before athletics, the only thing she knew was running over fences. Seeing her talent, she was introduced to the sport at a very young age before Nambiar took her under his wings.

She confessed many times that she lacked experience and exposure. On several occasions she had said Indians don't lack talent but scientific approach and exposure (which, of late, is much better). She started competing in 400m hurdles late. For Usha, Los Angeles was shattering. And she was not alone in her tears. Nawal el Moutawakel, who won the gold in the event summed it up succinctly during an awards function in 2011, "I cried because I wanted both of us to be on the podium and because we come from countries where we don't have Olympic medallists who are women."

NEWSMAKER

Missing the Olympic bronze was Usha's greatest regret. But there is another one she missed. The Commonwealth Games. She never ran in a CWG as the Indian government decided to pull out due to apartheid in 1986 when she was at the peak of her career.

After retiring in 2000, she wanted to launch an academy to give back to the sport. She harboured dreams of producing Olympic medallists. She had told this reporter that a medal for her ward would erase those painful memories of the 1984 Olympics.

Usha is one of the greatest athletes India has ever produced. And the moniker she holds — Payyoli Express — symbolises all things fast and tenacious. She retired after almost 18 years with a handful of records.

Some of Usha's records still stand. After taking over as IOA chief, she will be under constant scrutiny, especially her administrative acumen. Here's hoping she would excel it as well.

Srinagar and Leh gearing up to host G20 events next yr

YESHI SELI @New Delhi

MANY states and union territories across India will host events under the G20. The two most coveted amongst these are the ones that would be held in Srinagar and Leh.

"Srinagar will host the event in May when it is at its scenic best. There will be meetings under the Tourism Working group and a side event. The meetings are scheduled to be held between May 20 and 24. Preparations around security and upkeep of the places that the delegates are expected to visit have been going on for months," say sources.

The Youth 20 Inception meeting will be held in Leh between April 24 and 28.

Meanwhile, in the Union territory of Jammu and Kashmir, officials say the situation on ground has improved as they haven't witnessed any strike in 18 months. The security situation has also improved.

"The fact that there was a record number of tourists this year (1.62 crore since January which has been the highest since Independence) shows that people no longer fear coming to the Valley. The locals too celebrated the coming of tourists as this generated good income for them. All these factors have led to the firming up of dates and venue for the G20 meeting here," say sources.

Kashmir in autumn | ZAHOOR PUNJABI

The delegates visiting Srinagar are slated to visit tourist spots like the Dal Lake, Nishat Bagh, Shalimar Bagh, Pahalgam and Gulmarg. They will also experience the culinary delights of the state.

"The objective is to ensure that the delegates leave with fond memories. Accommodation, city sprucing, transport, Internet connectivity, medical facilities, training of staff members and other strategies are in place," the sources add.

Meanwhile, Sankracharya temple in Srinagar has already been illuminated as a part of the ongoing G20 drive of illuminating 100 monuments for a week since the official takeover of the G20 presidency.

Leh too has been gearing up for the event. The Ancient Palace of Leh has been lit. Four nodal officers have been nominated to oversee arrangements, including travel to Kargil and probably Pangong Lake.

Pharmacy council, state govts should check fake pharmacists, says SC

SHRUTI KAKKAR @New Delhi

REMARKING that running fake hospitals, dispensaries and medical stores can have serious consequences, the Supreme Court has observed that it is the duty of the Pharmacy Council and state governments to see that hospitals and medical stores are handled only by registered pharmacists.

"Running the hospitals/dispensaries in absence of any registered pharmacist and/or running such hospitals by fake pharmacist and even running the medical stores by fake pharmacist and without even any pharmacist will ultimately affect the health of the citizen. The state government and the Bihar State Pharmacy Council cannot be permitted to play with the health and life of the citizen," a bench of Justices MR Shah and MM Sundresh remarked.

The court's order came in a plea against Patna HC's order of dismissing the PIL which had sought for only allowing registered pharmacists to compound, prepare, mix or dispense any medicine on the prescription of a medical practitioner. The plea before the HC had stated that hospitals and persons who are not registered pharmacists, such as clerks and staff nurses were also discharging functions of a pharmacist.

The plea had sought issuance of directions for implementation of Pharmacy Practice Regulation, 2015 framed by the Pharmacy Council of India. The regulations had provided for creating various types of posts with diverse responsibilities for improving the quality of healthcare by regulating the pharmacy profession. The petition had also sought for directing the Bihar government to create posts other than a pharmacist and also appoint eligible persons to achieve the objective of Pharmacy Practice Regulation, 2015.

Disapproving the manner in which the HC rejected the PIL, the SC bench said the high court failed to exercise the powers vested in it under the Constitution of India.

"Serious allegations were made against the Bihar State Pharmacy Council and the State of Bihar for not taking any action with respect to fake pharmacist and/or running the government's hospitals and/or other hospitals without registered pharmacist and the in-action on the part of the Bihar State Pharmacy Council/state government has resulted into the affected health of the citizen, the High Court ought to have called upon the Bihar State Pharmacy Council to file the status report on the allegations of fake pharmacist and/or on how many Governments' hospitals/hospitals in the State are running without registered pharmacist," the bench said.

The top court also asked the HC to consider the reliefs that were sought in the PIL afresh. It also asked HC to call for a detail counter from the state government and Bihar State Pharmacy Council on the number of government, medical and private hospitals being run by unregistered pharmacists. The state government was also asked to report on whether it was following the Pharmacy Practice Regulations, 2015.

Incentive scheme to boost 2030 drone hub mission

AMIT MUKHERJEE @New Delhi

THE Ministry of Civil Aviation has notified the operational guidelines for the Production Linked Incentive (PLI) scheme for drones and drone components in India. It is yet another step in realising the aim of becoming a prominent drone manufacturing hub by 2030.

The government has approved the PLI scheme with an outlay of ₹120 crore. It will be in force till March 31, 2025, ministry sources said.

The guidelines have been finalised after consultations with stakeholders, including industry representatives. The PLI will be extended only to companies engaged in the manufacturing of drones and drone components in India.

The Indian government expects the annual turnover of the drone manufacturing sector to cross ₹900 crore and the drone services sector to exceed ₹30,000 crore in the next three years. The sector is expected to generate over 5 lakh jobs.

The government will invest ₹120 crore in the PLI scheme for the drone manufacturing sector. It is urging the industry to focus on applications in the fields of agriculture and healthcare, besides military use, such as spraying of nano urea, transportation of Covid-19 vaccines, weather forecasting, surveillance of forest areas, border patrolling and rural surveying.

Govt to invest ₹120 crore in scheme

Under the scheme, the total incentive per manufacturer is capped at ₹30 crore, which is 25% of the total outlay of ₹120 crore. Indian MSMEs and startups manufacturing drones and having annual sales turnover of ₹2 crore will be eligible. In the case of drone component makers, the eligibility threshold will be ₹0.5 crore. For Indian non-MSMEs that are into making drones, the annual sales turnover requirement will be ₹4 crore for claiming the PLIs. The minimum level will be ₹1 crore in the case of non-MSME drone component makers. Developers of software for drones and drone components will also be eligible for PLI.

At the Bharat Drone Mahotsav, organised in May this year, Prime Minister Narendra Modi had sent out a strong message for ushering in transformational change by making India the hub of drone manufacturing by 2030. By flying a drone himself, he tried to convey the message that these systems will become essential for business and social welfare in the future and India intends to become a key player in the global market.

Under the scheme, the total incentive per manufacturer is capped at ₹30 crore, which is 25% of the total outlay of ₹120 crore. Indian MSMEs and startups manufacturing drones and having annual sales turnover of ₹2 crore will be eligible. In the case of drone component makers, the eligibility threshold will be ₹0.5 crore.

For Indian non-MSMEs that are into making drones, the annual sales turnover requirement will be ₹4 crore for claiming the PLIs. The minimum level will be ₹1 crore in the case of non-MSME drone component makers. Developers of software for drones and drone components will also be eligible for PLI.

A group of secretaries, chaired by the cabinet secretary, will ensure that the expenditure is within the outlay.

"Excess incentive paid to any applicant (due to any reason like sales return in the subsequent year or some other reason) will be adjusted in the incentives payable in the next year(s)," the guidelines state.

"If there are no incentives payable in the next year(s), the applicant has to return the incentive along with interest calculated at 3 years SBI MCLR prevailing on the date of disbursement, compounded annually, for the number of days of holding the excess incentive," the ministry said.

Emergency phase is over, but laxity could create new Covid variant: WHO

KAVITA BAJELI-DATT @New Delhi

THE World Health Organization (WHO) has said that gaps in surveillance, testing, sequencing and vaccination continue to create perfect conditions for a deadly new Covid-19 variant to emerge.

"We are closer to being able to say that the emergency phase of the pandemic is over, but we are not there yet," WHO Director-General Tedros Adhanom said. His remarks came after Covid-19 cases have shown a decline across the globe.

"Gaps in surveillance, testing, sequencing and vaccination are continuing to create the perfect conditions for a new variant of concern to emerge that could cause significant mortality," he added.

His comments came amidst rise in Covid cases in China, and parts of the UK.

However, Adhanom accepted that 90% of the world population now has some level of immunity "due to prior infection or vaccination".

Today, over 500 sub-lineages of Omicron are circulating
Pandemic has claimed over 6 million lives so far
Weekly Covid-19 deaths have declined slightly over past 5 weeks
Over 8,500 people lost their lives last week to the virus

Since the emergence of Omicron last year, the Covid-19 virus has continued to evolve.

"Today, there are over 500 sub-lineages of Omicron circulating. They are highly transmissible; they replicate in the upper respiratory tract and tend to cause less severe disease than previous variants. They have mutations that enable them to escape built-up immunity more easily," he said.

With the pandemic's peak behind, nations are loosening the reins on surveillance, testing and vaccination for the disease, which has claimed over 6 million lives so far, he added.

The number of deaths has declined slightly over the past five weeks. Still, over 8,500 people lost their lives last week – which is not acceptable three years into the pandemic, he said, urging all countries to take a risk-based approach that protects both public health and human rights.

Campaigning ends for Guj last round

Fate of CM Bhupendra Patel, Patidar leader Hardik & OBC leader Alpesh to be decided on Dec 8

DILIP SINGH KSHATRIYA
@Ahmedabad

THE campaigning for the second and last phase of elections due December 5 closed on Saturday, with top leaders of three major parties going all out for 93 seats at stake, including central and north Gujarat, including Ahmedabad, Vadodara and Gandhinagar.

The first phase of polling took place on December 1 and the voting percentage was recorded as lower than in previous 2017 polls. As many as 833 candidates are in the fray across 93 constituencies which will go to the polls on December 5. Votes will be counted on December 8. There are 2.54 crore registered voters in these constituencies.

Prominent candidates in the second phase include Chief Minister Bhupendra Patel from Ghatlodia, Patidar leader Hardik Patel from Viramgam and OBC leader Alpesh Thakor from Gandhinagar South. Both Hardik Patel and Thakor are contesting on BJP ticket. Union Minister Smriti Irani and UP Chief Minister Yogi Adityanath held public rallies for the ruling BJP. Punjab CM Bhagwant Mann continued his campaigns at Garbada, Dahod, Jhalod, and Fatepura of Central Gujarat. Congress senior leaders held road shows and public rallies at various places.

Gujarat CM Bhupendra Patel during a roadshow in Ahmedabad on Saturday | PTI

On Saturday, addressing a rally at Dholka in Ahmedabad, Adityanath said the Congress and AAP "should be hanged" as they are hurdles to the country's security and development. "The Congress and AAP, which are hurdles to the country's security and development, usko hansiye par daal dijiye, samapt kar dijiye (put them aside, end their existence)," Yogi said.

He said only BJP can guarantee security to citizens and hailed his own measure of using bulldozers against "professional rioters" in Uttar Pradesh. "Bulldozers not only build roads but also move through the chests of criminals and terrorists. This has also become a model now," he said.

Later, in the afternoon he also reminded people about his action against the rioters. "Now we don't have communal riots in UP also. "Everyone has become quiet. Otherwise, there would be a riot every other day... We print the photos of rioters. We took the properties of rioters in our possession. We did not hesitate to run bulldozers over the properties of professional rioters who accumulated wealth during the Opposition rule," he said. In north Gujarat, BJP is plagued by dissidence and infighting in four seats of Bayad, Kheralu, Dhanera, and Deesa, where rebel candidates did not care for party persuasion and continued their candidature as independents.

Prime Minister Narendra Modi conducted a whirlwind campaign for the BJP on December 1 and 2, including two back-to-back roadshows in Ahmedabad.

Cong set to gain from tribal quota bill in bye-election

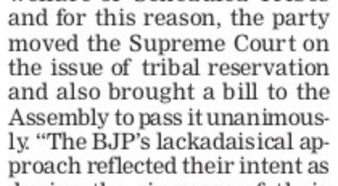
EJAZ KAISER @Raipur

THE ruling Congress in Chhattisgarh believes the party's prospects to win the Bhanupratapur bypolls will get a boost with the passing of the reservation amendment bill in the Assembly on Friday. With AAP and the regional political party of Jogi (JCC-J) not in the fray in the ST-reserved constituency, the contest is between the ruling Congress and the opposition BJP.

The state Assembly passed an amendment bill taking the quota in the state to a 76% with the tribal reservation being raised to 32%. The last day of campaigning at Bhanupratapur saw senior leaders from both Congress and BJP, including CM Bhupesh Baghel and former CM Raman Singh, sweating it out during hectic canvassing. The by-poll is schedule for December 5. The by-poll was necessitated following the death of sitting Congress MLA and deputy Speaker Manoj Mandavi on October 16. Congress candidate Savitri has an apparent advantage due to sympathy votes.

BJP state president Arun Sao said the Bhupesh government intentionally brought the bill ahead of the by-poll for political gains. "It was after the BJP's agitation that the Congress was compelled to bring the quota bill but their intention was mistrustful. The ruling party didn't present the case strongly and effectively following which the high court struck down the earlier government's decision on 58 percent reservation. The special session was called with the obvious objective keeping by-poll in mind", said Sao.

The tribal quota was slashed from 32% to 20% following the order of the Chhattisgarh high court in September this year. In 2012, the BJP regime led by Raman Singh government raised the quotas up to 58% reservation (including 32% for the ST) in educational institutions and government jobs. However, Congress retorted, saying that the party has always remained genuinely concerned for the welfare of Scheduled Tribes and for this reason, the party moved the Supreme Court on the issue of tribal reservation and also brought a bill to the Assembly to pass it unanimously. "The BJP's lackadaisical approach reflected their intent as during the six years of their rule till 2018 the party didn't act swiftly in support of reservation", Baghel said.



CONG HOPING FOR WINNING STREAK

Chhattisgarh has witnessed four Assembly by-polls after the Congress formed the government in December 2018 and the party won in all of them. The Bhanupratapur is the one that the Congress will seek to continue its winning streak, said Sushil Anand Shukla, Congress spokesperson. The political experts believed the reservation bill passed might possibly impact the voters' mood in the reserved constituency.

40 seats in poll-bound Guj crucial for MP netas

People's mandate in 40-odd seats in poll-bound Gujarat will prove an acid test for some 90 political and community leaders tied to MP BJP. CM Shivraj Singh Chouhan has addressed series of meetings in Saurashtra region, including Morbi district. His cabinet colleagues Home Minister Narottam Mishra, Medical Education Minister Vishvas Sarang and Cooperatives Minister Arvind Bhadoria and others have been playing the role of key coordinators in Saurashtra and the tribal region of Gujarat bordering MP. The fate of the party on those seats may play key role in deciding BJP's political stride in MP.

Congress alert as tribal outfit eyes third front

With the rising young tribal group Jai Adivasi Yuva Shakti (JAYS) hinting clearly at testing waters for the 2023-end assembly polls in MP, prime opposition party Congress seems to have directed focus mooting a tribal-centric plan. Not only is Rahul Gandhi's Bharat Jodo Yatra cutting through regions with JAYS' influence, other plans too are in the offing within the state Congress. As per sources, JAYS plans to build a third front against BJP and Congress on 84 tribal-dominated seats out of 230 seats. Forty seven seats out of this are reserved for Scheduled Tribes. Out of these 84 seats, the Congress party had won a major share of 47 seats in the previous state elections.

Pak drone shot down by BSF, 27 kg heroin, pistol recovered

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Chandigarh

THE Border Security Force (BSF) foiled another cross-border drug-smuggling attempt as it shot down a drone and recovered 27 kg heroin worth Rs 125 crore in international market besides a pistol and bullets in Punjab's Fazilka district on Saturday. The BSF personnel also shot at three to four suspects who came to recover the consignment, but they managed to flee.

Sources said that the BSF around 12.05 am heard a buzzing sound of a drone entering Indian territory near Churiwala Chusti village in Fazilka district. The personnel fired in the direction of the drone, and it was shot down as it was moving back towards Pakistan.

In the morning. BSF launched a search operation to recover the drone and the items it dropped and recovered 10 packets of heroin, weighing around 27 kg, a Pakistani-made pistol, two magazines and 50 rounds of a .9mm pistol in the area of Sowarwali border outpost. BSF found There were three big packets and inside them there were nine smaller packets with 7.5 kg heroin besides a 9mm pistol, two magazines and 50 cartridges.

Bengal rivals at each other's throat months ahead of panchayat polls

PRANAB MONDAL @Kolkata

WEST Bengal's politics reached its peak on Saturday as two heavyweights, Trinamool Congress's national general secretary Abhishek Banerjee and Leader of Opposition Suvendu Adhikari sounded poll bugle for the next year's panchayat elections while addressing rallies in each other's strongholds. While the nephew of CM Mamata Banerjee addressed a rally at a Kanthi ground in East Midnapore, barely 200 metre from Adhikari's residence, the former lieutenant of Bengal CM challenged the ruling party in Diamond Harbour, South 24 Parganas, Lok Sabha constituency of the second-in-command in the TMC.

"Many of you could not vote in last year's panchayat elections as the TMC rogue cadres did not allow opposition candidates to submit nominations. This time, I will teach them a lesson. You only have to select candidates and filing their nominations will be my responsibility. Khela hobe (there will be a game) in the panchayat polls," Adhikari lashed out.

Assuring that the panchayat polls will be free and fair, Banerjee said deserving party workers would get ticket and no one would have to get recommendation from any leadership. The war of words between two heavyweights intensified as Banerjee dared BJP to put him in jail as Adhikari lashed out saying 'all thieves must be arrested'. Taking a dig at Adhikari and his party, Banerjee said, "He said he will put me in jail, Come if you have guts, put me in jail."

Referring to Enforcement Directorate's interrogation of Banerjee in connection with a probe into coal pilferage, Adhikari said recently that 'a big thief will be caught in December'. On Saturday, Adhikari reiterated his claim that the Bengal BJP will arrange a victory celebration, "I will come again this month and distribute a van full of laddus," he announced.

Referring to Mamata's recent invitation to her chamber in the Assembly, Adhikari said, "I was invited alone as the CM thought she would go for a setting with me. But I met her with two others. I defeated her and I will drive you out," he said.

TMC WORKER, 2 OTHERS KILLED IN EXPLOSION

KOLKATA: Three persons, including a booth president of Trinamool Congress, were killed in an explosion inside a house on Friday at Bhupatinagar, East Midnapore. The BJP alleged that the explosion took place when crude bombs were being made inside the house as a part of preparations for violence in the next year's panchayat elections. Police said forensic experts visited the spot and collected samples. BJP's national VP Dilip Ghosh alleged the entire state has become a bomb making industry. TMC spokesperson Kunal Ghosh said, "It is being investigated whether bombs were hurled at the house from outside."

EX-CONG LEADERS IN PUNJAB BJP TEAM

HARPREET BAJWA @Chandigarh

THE Punjab unit of BJP on Saturday announced new office-bearers, all former Congress leaders who joined the party this year including former Punjab CM Capt Amarinder Singh's daughter Jai Inder Kaur have made it to the top positions in the party and six other leaders who quit the Congress are among the 11 vice-presidents and former Congress minister is one of the state general secretaries as state unit president Ashwani Sharma has been retained. The eleven vice presidents include Jai Inder Kaur daughter of former Punjab CM Capt Amarinder Singh, former minister and ex-congress leader Raj Kumar Verka, former MLAs Kewal Singh Dhillon, Fateh Jung Bajwa and Arvind Khanna besides Lakhwinder Kaur Garcha. The other vice-presidents are Dr Subhash Sharma, Rakesh Rathore, Dyal Singh Sodhi, Dr Jagmohan Raju and Jagdeep Nakai. Meanwhile former Shiromani Gurdwara Parbandhak Committee president Late Gurucharan Singh Tohra's grandson, Kanwarveer Singh Tohra has been appointed president of the state's youth wing. The name of former Health Minister Balbir Singh Sidhu, who had also joined the BJP is missing from the list. The BJP state unit tried to balance between the new and old leaders as it has now 60 office bearers. The party is likely to declare the state executive members in a few days.

BJP plans 10-month roadmap for state polls

A crucial BJP meeting in New Delhi on Monday will be held to propose a ten-month roadmap for the MP assembly polls slated to be conducted by 2023 end. To be addressed by Prime Minister Narendra Modi, the primary agenda of the meeting however will be to narrow down on a plan for the 2024 general elections – with particular emphasis on state elections next year in MP, Rajasthan and Chhattisgarh. The meeting will be attended with central party leaders from the state party organisation as well as core party leaders of the state, among Union ministers and national leaders.

Hindus should adopt 'Muslim formula' on population, says Assam MP Ajmal

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Guwahati

ASSAM MP and All India United Democratic Front (AIUDF) chief Maulana Badruddin Ajmal stirred a hornet's nest with his remarks that Hindus should follow the 'Muslim formula' and marry at a young age, so they can have more children like them, on Saturday. He also said that Hindu men keep up to three illegal wives and get married after the age of 40 due to parental pressure.

Ajmal, later, issued an apology for "inadvertently hurting the sentiments" of the people of Assam. "I take back my statement," he said, reacting to the sharp criticisms.

The AIUDF chief had earlier, had told a news channel in Assam's Karimganj, "Muslim boys get married at 22 while girls at 18 years of age. Whereas, Hindus keep one to three illegal wives till the age of 40 years and do not have children. They save money and enjoy." "How can you expect to have more children if you marry at such an age? When you plough a fertile land and on time, you get a good harvest," the MP continued.

AIUDF chief Maulana Badruddin Ajmal

Suggesting that the Hindus adopt the "Muslim formula", the Dhubri MP said they should arrange the marriage of their sons and daughters when they attain the age of 20-22 years and 18-20 years respectively. Ajmal also made some alleged offensive remarks on "love jihad" targeting Assam Chief Minister Himanta Biswa Sarma. Ruling BJP and opposition parties are now going for his jugular.

"Ajmal is a contemporary edition of the harem culture of the Mughals, the Sultans and the Khiljis. In the medieval era, the Muslim aggressors had built harems after killing Hindu men. Ajmal is trying to continue that culture," BJP Assam spokesman Ranjib Kumar Sarma said.

BJP MLA Diganta Kalita likened Ajmal with the Mughal emperor Aurangzeb and said the Assamese society would never accept the Arabic culture. The AIUDF chief made the remarks soon after the CM had received an interim report of the Commission for Review & Assessment of Problems of Satra Land. Satras are Vaishnavite prayer centres and their lands are under encroachment. Kalita found a link between Ajaml's statement and the latter's vote-bank politics.

"We all know that the Satra lands have been encroached by migrant Muslims. Ajmal targeted the CM to protect his vote bank," Kalita said.

Tech diplomacy new frontier of foreign policy, say Danish tech diplomat

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

TECH diplomacy is a "new frontier for foreign policy based on three pillars — igniting responsibility of the private sector towards the society, democratizing technology, and the influence of technology on national security, economy, and infrastructure," said Danish Tech Ambassador Anne Marie Engtoft Larsen on Saturday.

Larsen and her team shared their views on how technology is increasingly occupying space similar to a nation state in a discussion organised recently by the city-based strategic affairs think tank - Synergia Foundation.

Larsen, the second to hold office, is leading new innovations in diplomacy called 'Techplomacy' since 2020. Denmark was the world's first country to adjust diplomacy to the needs of the 21st century by establishing the Office of Tech Ambassador in 2017.

As one of the leaders in tech diplomacy, Larsen discussed the transformative power of technology, and the future pathways diplomats can take to derive social and public goods by engaging with the tech industry.

"Technology is not a neutral platform and does not exist in a vacuum. It has in-built values that can be maneuvered towards delivering solutions for grand societal challenges," added the Danish diplomat.

> We have a role to engage with both public and private actors to further the public good in collaboration with the tech industry
> - Anne Marie Engtoft Larsen

The discussion further moved into the future of tech diplomacy in India. She added that as an ever-developing society, "we have a role to engage with both public and private actors to further the public good in collaboration with the tech industry. Innovation and disruptive ideas happen at the edge of order and chaos. An excess of order kills the innovative spirit. However, in the digital domain, order is scalable and easily navigable. The fourth Industrial Revolution being brought about by technological advancement will not be the dictator of the future, but a collaborator. Tech diplomacy could pave the way for shifting corporate mindsets from profit towards democracy affirmative technology," added Larsen. She is the co-founder of the Democratic Business Network and CBS Student Innovation House.

MOSCOW REJECTS G7-LED PRICE CAP ON ITS CRUDE

Market price of a barrel of Russian crude is currently around $65 dollars

MOSCOW

RUSSIA on Saturday rejected a $60 price cap on its oil agreed by the EU, G7 and Australia, which Ukraine said would contribute to the destruction of Russia's economy.

"We will not accept this price cap," Kremlin spokesman Dmitry Peskov told domestic news agencies, adding that Russia, the world's second largest crude exporter, was "analysing" the move.

The $60 oil price cap will come into effect on Monday or soon after, alongside an EU embargo on maritime deliveries of Russian crude oil.

The embargo will prevent seaborne shipments of Russian crude to the European Union, which account for two thirds of the bloc's oil imports, potentially depriving Russia's war chest of billions of euros.

Kyiv welcomed the price cap, which stops countries paying more than $60 a barrel for Russian oil deliveries by tanker vessel and is designed to make it harder for Russia to bypass EU sanctions by selling beyond the European Union at market prices.

"We always achieve our goal and the economy of Russia will be destroyed, and Russia itself will pay and be responsible for all crimes," Ukraine's presidential chief of staff Andriy Yermak said on Saturday.

The Kremlin also said Russian President Vladimir Putin would "in due time" visit the Donbas region of eastern Ukraine, which he claims to have annexed. But Peskov gave no indication of when this could happen.

Poland had earlier refused to back the price cap over concerns the $60 ceiling was too high but confirmed its agreement on Friday evening.

Yermak noted a cap of "$30 would have destroyed it (the Russian economy) more quickly".

The market price of a barrel of Russian Urals crude is currently around $65 dollars, just slightly higher than the $60 cap, indicating the measure may have only a limited impact in the short term.

The G7 said it was delivering on its vow "to prevent Russia from profiting from its war of aggression against Ukraine, to support stability in global energy markets and to minimise negative economic spillovers of Russia's war of aggression".

The White House described the cap as "welcome news" that would help limit Putin's ability to fund the Kremlin's "war machine".

Russia has threatened not to deliver to countries that adopted the measure. AFP

AI-Vistara merger: Challenges ahead

Aviation experts say the merger indicates the sector is heading towards a duopoly

ARSHAD KHAN @New Delhi

THE merger of Vistara with Air India marks the beginning of consolidation phase in the Indian aviation sector where nearly half a dozen small and big airlines have ceased operations in the past one decade in a market which is price sensitive and excessively regulated.

According to some aviation experts, the merger indicates that the sector is heading towards a duopoly and is very positive for the overall ecosystem. "Indigo and consolidated Air India will account for more than 80% of the market share indicating that Indian aviation is headed towards a duopoly," said Anil R, Research Analyst at Geojit Financial Services. Aviation consultancy firm CAPA India also said that competitive dynamics in India are moving towards a two-pillar system around the Air India Group and IndiGo.

"The two carriers combined are in due course expected to achieve a domestic market share of 75-80% and in the international market they are expected to grow from 37.8% in the second quarter of the current fiscal to over 50%," CAPA stated. Singapore Airlines (SIA) and Tata Sons this Tuesday announced the Air India-Vistara merger wherein SIA would own a 25.1% stake in the enlarged Air India group. SIA and Tata aim to complete the merger by March 2024. Post this, brand Vistara will cease to exist.

However, not every expert is jubilant that the merger would lift the country's aviation sector.

AVIATION SPACE LEADERS

IndiGo Fleet Size: 280+ aircraft

Air India Group Fleet Size: 218 aircraft

Indigo Market Share: 56.7%

Air India Group Market Share: 26% (Approx)

'Vistara a Failure Brand, Merger Was to Save Image'

Mark Martin, CEO of Martin Consulting, said that the sole intention of this exercise is to hide the failure that is Vistara. "The merger does not appear to be a great story and I don't think it would lead to creation of a very strong player. This was a desperate move by SIA to save its reputation," stated Martin.

Vistara, a 49:51 JV airline between SIA and Tata, has never made profits since starting operations in January 2015. Not only Vistara, Tata Group's other joint venture (JV) airline AirAsia India (now fully owned by the Tatas and now merged with Air India) has ever reported profit.

"So, what business sense does it make to dump Vistara into Air India which is already battered and bruised?" questioned Martin. While the Tata Group is known to turn around big businesses such as Tata Steel and Tata Motors, turning around Air India would be a different challenge altogether.

'Merger doesn't appear to be a great story'

Mark Martin, CEO of Martin Consulting, said the sole intention of the merger is to hide the failure that is Vistara. "The merger does not appear to be a great story and I don't think it would lead to creation of a very strong player. This was a desperate move by SIA to save its reputation," stated Martin

"Unlike other businesses, success of an airline is dependent on many external factors such as jet fuel prices and foreign exchange rate. Both the factors at present are very hostile for airlines…I don't expect the Tatas to become a force to reckon with (like IndiGo) anytime soon," said a senior analyst of a rating agency requesting anonymity.

Martin also raised concern that Air India is now an employee heavy group and soon there can be lay-offs. "Excepts for pilots and limited cabin crew members, it does not make sense to have two or say three persons for a similar role…So a lay-off cannot be ruled out," he said.

IndiGo to Remain Strong

Anil R of Geojit said that given its 280-aircraft fleet and strong network, they believe Indigo will maintain its market leadership position in the short to medium term. "The intensity of competition will undoubtedly increase due to rapid expansion plans of the industry, impacting the position of Indigo. However, we don't expect a drastic fall in share…We like Indigo because of its market leadership, ability to leverage its network, cost-effective fleet, healthy cash position, and on-time performance," the analyst noted. In October, IndiGo had a market share of 56.7% in the domestic market, more than twice of four AI airlines whose combined share stood at nearly 26%. Air India's combined fleet strength now stands at 218 aircraft as against IndiGo's 280 plus aircraft.

Anil added that small players can have a challenging period if there is a pricing war in the industry. Cash starved budget carriers -- SpiceJet and GoFirst – are going through a challenging period and have seen a decline in market share. "Currently, we do not see a possibility for price war due to ample growth opportunity and high ATF cost. In the medium to long-term such an issue will depend on the strength of the industry growth, moderation in ATF cost and capex plans," said Anil.

TRANSFORMING DHARAVI: CAN GAUTAM ADANI DO IT?

IT is an endless march to take over and grow infrastructure projects by the Adani Group. However, the latest in Gautam Adani's bag – the redevelopment of Dharavi, possibly the World's most dense and largest slum layout – may be a tough nut to crack.

The Adani group's bid of ₹5,069 crore bagged the project ahead of Delhi builders DLF that had bid ₹2,025 crore. Another Mumbai group, Naman, was disqualified in the technical round. The fact that eight developers had attended the pre-bid meetings, but only three finally entered the race indicates how tough the project is.

The redevelopment of Dharavi has always been a challenge as it is a complex slum township that houses not only 68,000 families in semi-legal tenements, but also a labyrinthof cottage and home industries including pottery, leather works, pappad-manufacture and packaging units. Located in the heart of Mumbai's island city amid a crisscross of nullahs, Dharavi is seen as an 'eyesore' and has been the focus of attempts since 1971 to rebuild it along normal town-planning norms.

A gold mine?

On the face of it, the Adani Group seems to have bagged a gold mine. The project covers 540 acres or nearly 2.5 square kilometers (kms) and has been accorded special development rights of 4.0 FSI (ie. the built up area allowed is 4X of ground area). It is also cheek-by-jowl to Mumbai's fancy steel and glass commercial district – the Bandra Kurla Complex (BKC). The recent addition of an adjoining 117 acre of Railway land, that is now a part of the project, is a new sweetener.

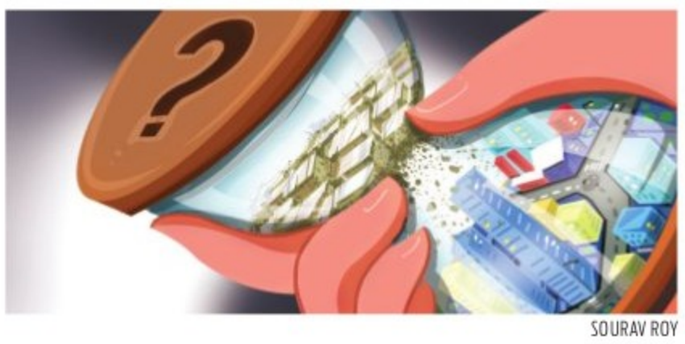
Dharavi's redevelopment will follow the same 'cross-subsidy' model that has driven slum rehabilitation in Mumbai for decades. The existing families and businesses will be rehabilitated in planned layouts at the developer's expense. The surplus land after the 'restructuring' will be developed and sold to finance the project and give a profit margin to the developer. The Adanis will thus spend Rs 25,000 crore on rehab, which will include necessary civic amenities like water, power, roads and other infrastructure.

On what will accrue to the Adani Group, there are insane projections floating about. One of them this writer has seen envisages 50 million square feet being used for rehabilitation of local residents, and about 40 million sq ft being released for sale as commercial realty. At a rate of ₹50,000 per sq ft reigning in the area, the developers are expected to generate sales of ₹2 lakh crore!

This could be so much jiggery pokery! As a real estate reporter, this writer has been witness to multiple attempts and commercial bids by the state government over two decades to bring Dharavi in the development net. All have failed so far!

NEWSCOPE
GURBIR SINGH

It started with the Maharashtra government in 1975 launching the Slum Improvement Programme to provide basic amenities. Again in 1985, the World Bank part-funded a slum upgradation programme (SUP).



SOURAV ROY

Both failed. Then followed a change of gear and the state government decided to redevelop Dharavi as an integrated planned township through private developers using the 'cross-subsidy' route. A February 2004 Government Resolution (GR) notified 440 acres (178 ha) for commercial development and Dharavi was sent to the market with 3-4 rounds of commercial bids.

The first proposal was by an architect, Mukesh Mehta, of MM Consultants, who proposed development in 12 sectors carving out separate 7-story buildings with 225 sq ft flats for residences and industrial parks for manufacturing units. There were protests by the Dharavi Bachao Samiti (DBS), and a modified plan in 2008 then offered mezzanine floor in buildings for cottage industries like pappad.

Dharavi has since seen three rounds of bidding for which many foreign cartels too entered the race. But nothing moved on the ground. The last round was in 2019 when the Dubai-based Seclink Technology Corporation (STC) won the project with a bid of ₹7,200 crore. AdaniInfrastructure was worsted then witha lower bid of Rs 4,529 crore.For some reason, a Committee of Secretaries (CoS) failed to award the project; and the Dubai company has been holding out threats and claims for compensation.

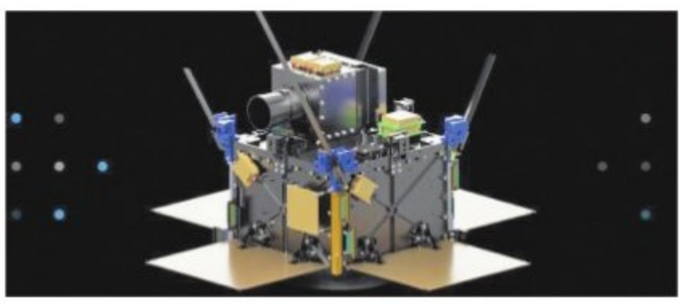
The human challenge

The challenge of Dharavi is it is not a greenfield project where the rules of the real estate market can be applied blindly. It is 'brownfield' layout with old and well-settled residences and bustling entrepreneurship rubbing shoulders with each other.

This writer has seen generations of potters still turning their wheels in Dharavi's 'Kumbhar Wada'. Can these potters work in multi-story industrial estates? The same question faces the hundreds of taxi garages, and the leather units.

Dharavi is an agglomeration of locals as well as several waves of migrant communities. If the project promoters don't take the myriad human needs and nuances into account, there will be resistance from below. In which case, are the Adanis going to tread the road of the bulldozer?

It is for the same reason the top down approach of Maharashtra's Slum Rehabilitation Scheme, set up by Bal Thackeray in 1997 to give pucca homes to 40 lakh slum dwellers has been a miserable failure. Over 24 years, it has generated 2,067 projects with just 223,000 tenements. Unless there is some new thinking, Dharavi will go the same way.



'Satellite imagery can monitor and reduce carbon emission'

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @Chennai

SPACE tech startup Pixxel Space believes that its high-resolution satellite imagery and analytics tools can help companies monitor and reduce carbon emissions and regulate pollution.

The satellites can monitor emissions at scale and help in environment, social and governance (ESG) reporting of companies, chief executive officer and founder of Pixxel Space Awais Ahamed said.

"Greenhouse gas emissions, pollution, its quantity can be measured at factories and could be checked whether polluted air emitted above the city, pollutants are mixed in the water bodies and rivers. We can find oil, gas leaks from pipelines and industries," he said.

It has also developed analytics models which can measure the impact of oil, gas exploration, mining operations and has developed alternative geospatial based methods to explore oil, coal with minimal impact on the environment.

The startup is also focussing on assesing soil and water health.Pixxel Space's prediction of crop yields is considered to be a primary use case. "With the hyperspectral imagery, we can identify the crops species among greenery, identify pesticide and other problems in the crops and predict yields," Kshitij Khandelwal, founder and chief technical officer of Pixxel Space.

In an interaction with this newspaper, he said, "With the mixed cropping pattern in India, we can find out crop species, crop health. We can analyze whether, the crop that will need fertilizer or predict the yield at an area using machine learning models."

OYO to lay off 600 employees in organisational restructuring

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @New Delhi

HOTEL room aggregator firm OYO on Saturday announced that it will lay off 600 employees from its technology team, in what it calls a change in organisational structure.

The company said it will downsize 10% of its 3,700 employee base from product & engineering, corporate headquarters and OYO Vacation Homes teams. It will make fresh hiring of 250 people to the partner relationship management and the business development teams.

According to the company statement, product and engineering teams are being merged for smoother functioning. The downsizing in tech is also happening in teams which were developing pilots and proof of concepts such as In-app Gaming, social content curation and patron facilitated content. Additionally, members of projects which have now been successfully developed and deployed such as 'Partner SaaS' are being either let go or are being redeployed in core product & tech areas such as AI driven pricing, ordering and payments.

To make fresh hiring of 250 staff in certain roles

OYO said it will downsize 10% of its 3,700 employee base from product & engineering, corporate headquarters and OYO Vacation Homes teams. It will make fresh hiring of 250 people to partner relationship management and the business development teams. Product and engineering teams are being merged, it said

Ritesh Agarwal, founder and group CEO of OYO, said they will try to ensure that most of the people being laid off are gainfully employed.

"Every member of the OYO team and I myself will proactively endorse the strength of each of these employees. It is unfortunate that we are having to part ways with a lot of these talented individuals who have made valuable contributions to the company. As OYO grows and a need for some of these roles emerges in the future, we commit to reaching out to them first and offering them the opportunity," he said.

The company will be adding 250 members primarily in its relationship management teams to ensure better consumer and partner satisfaction and in business development teams to help scale up the number of Hotels & Homes on its platform.

The IPO-bound company recently reported its July-September quarter (Q2FY23) loss has narrowed by 20% to Rs 333 crore from Rs 414 crore in the previous quarter of the ongoing fiscal (Q1FY23).

Electoral bonds to open for sale on December 5

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

THE 24th tranche of electoral bonds will open for sale from December 5 as the government on Saturday approved issuance of these bonds.

State Bank of India (SBI) has been authorised to issue and encash electoral bonds through 29 authorised branches from December 5-12, the finance ministry said in a statement.

The last phase of electoral bonds (23rd tranche) was open for subscription between November 9-15, 2022.

Electoral bonds are an alternative to cash donations made to political parties as part of efforts to bring transparency in political funding. The issuance date of bonds coincides with the second phase of the Gujarat assembly election, which is scheduled on December 5.

Usually, electoral bond tranches are open for sale between 1-10 of a designated month. For instance, the 22nd tranche of bond sales took place from October 1-10, 2022 while 21st tranche was from July 1-10, 2022. Sale of the first batch of electoral bonds happened from March 1-10, 2018.

South Korea came from behind to shock Portugal in their final Group H clash to seal last 16 qualification. They will face Brazil on Monday | AP

Outsiders on the rise, bloc by bloc

VISHNU PRASAD

IT was not until ten full minutes after the referee had called time on their game against Portugal that the huddle of South Korean players started celebrating at the Education City Stadium in Al-Rayyan on Friday. That was when confirmation came in that Uruguay had only beaten Ghana by two goals, one shy of what they needed. It marked a memorable return to the knockout stages for South Korea after almost a decade, and for only the third time in their history. It also marked a watershed moment in football's history as well. South Korea had become the sixth team from outside Europe and South America to qualify for the knockout stages. At no other edition of the World Cup has this number been so high.

Six of the sixteen teams were from Asia, Africa and North America. Never before had three teams from Asia made the Round of 16 since the inception of the 32-team World Cup in 1998. Through Senegal and Morocco, Africa too equalled its best-ever tally of two representatives, that it had set in 2014.

"I could feel that the times have changed," Japan's coach Hajime Moriyasu said after his team qualified for the knockouts. "These players are playing in a new age of Japanese football." He could have been speaking for his continent as a whole.

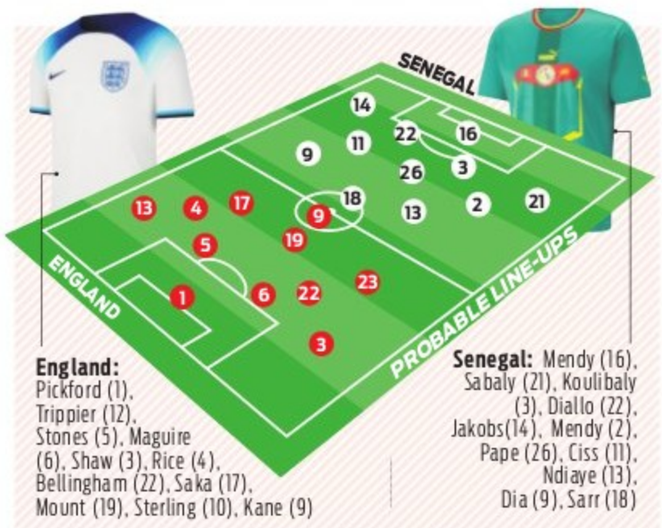
Since the first World Cup was played in 1930, the teams participating always came from two categories. There were the footballing superpowers — teams from Europe and South America, who have won every World Cup till date. Their pedigree is undisputed. Their domination of the sport's biggest tournament has been so complete that only on two occasions has a team from outside this bloc featured in the semifinals. The United States made the semifinals of the first-ever World Cup way back in 1930. Then, in 2002, co-hosts South Korea made an impossible run to the semifinals, where they were beaten narrowly by Germany.

The disparity between this elite bloc and the rest of the world — Asia, Africa, Oceania and North America — have always been reflected in the way the game is run. Qatar 2022 marks only the sixth time of 22 occasions where the Cup has been hosted by a country from the latter three continents. It still reflects in the way each confederation gets qualifying spots at the World Cup.

In 1966, Europe and South America together contributed 14 of the 16 teams. Asia, Africa and Oceania together had one qualifying spot to fight for. Things might be a lot better in 2022, but the disparity remains. UEFA, the European confederation with 55 members, got 13 slots to fill in Qatar. In comparison, CAF, the African confederation with 54 members, got just 5. Much has been made of the fact that in 2026 — the first 48-team World Cup — the 47 teams from Asia will fight it out for 8 direct entries and a playoff spot. At the same time, the 10 countries that represent South America — CONMEBOL — will have six spots and a playoff berth to play four. The South American qualifying process will essentially be to eliminate three teams!

A couple of weeks ago, an Asian country complaining about this would have been met with derision and a flaunting of South America's pedigree at World Cups. However, on Friday, the argument — perhaps for the first time in the history of football seemed justified. Only Brazil and Argentina represented CONMEBOL in the knockouts. AFC had Australia, Japan and South Korea.

Of course, it could very well be that this is a freak occurrence and that normal service will resume four years later. But in Qatar, even teams which fell by the wayside, like Iran, Saudi Arabia, Cameroon and Ghana, managed to go toe-to-toe with the big boys. The gap between the two blocs is certainly closing.



England: Pickford (1), Trippier (12), Stones (5), Maguire (6), Shaw (3), Rice (4), Bellingham (22), Saka (17), Mount (19), Sterling (10), Kane (9)

Senegal: Mendy (16), Sabaly (21), Koulibaly (3), Diallo (22), Jakobs(14), Mendy (2), Pape (26), Ciss (11), Ndiaye (13), Dia (9), Sarr (18)

STERN TEST FOR THREE LIONS

The best team, according to the points table in the group stages, England, faces a tricky opponent in Senegal for a place in the quarterfinals. A look...

TEAM COMBINATION

Coach Gareth Southgate finally started the likes of Phil Foden and Marcus Rashford and both of them were thrilled. But he will likely go back to his trusted lieutenants in the big games, Bukayo Saka and Raheem Sterling. That's a more functional team and perhaps that's what you want at the business end of the competition.

PACE UP FRONT

Without Sadio Mane, the Africans may be a lesser team but they make up for it in other areas. For one, the pace they possess up front can be harnessed, especially against the likes of Harry Maguire who isn't the quickest. They will likely attack the flanks on both sides as a means towards goal.

KEY PLAYERS

HARRY KANE

2018's Golden Boot winner may have not been amongst the goals but he's so much more than just that. For starters, he leads the assists column with three. He drops back, defenders go with him and he is adept at playing those passes that takes out the defence.

KALIDOU KOULIBALY

He scored what turned out be the winner but his role gains significance because he will likely be tasked with marking Kane. He is an aerial weapon in both penalty boxes and embraces the physical nature. He's a sizable obstacle.

Qatar FIFA WORLD CUP FINALS 2022

France: Lloris (1), Koundе (5), Konate (24), Upamecano (18), Theo (22), Tchouameni (8), Rabiot (14), Dembele (11), Griezmann (7), Mbappe (10), Giroud (9)

Poland: Szczesny (1), Cash (2), Glik (15), Kiwior (14), Bereszynski (18), Bielik (6), Krychowiak (10), Frankowski (24), Zielinski (20), Swiderski (16), Lewandowski (9)

MATCH POINT

Poland almost stopped playing in the end against Argentina but they will have to significantly better if they are to challenge France on Sunday. A look...

BIG BOYS WILL BE BACK

France's big boys, the ones who had a day off against Tunisia, will be back against an overworked Poland side. They have had a largely untroubled qualification campaign thus far and will look to continue in the same vein.

HOPE FOR LEWANDOWSKI & CO.

Les Bleus have conceded chances in all three games, they are yet to keep a clean sheet. So, if Poland decide to maintain a constant attacking outlet, they will know there is a chance to get behind the defence.

KEY PLAYERS

ANTOINE GRIEZMANN

The forward thought he had levelled against Tunisia before VAR intervened. While he's yet to score, he's quietly enjoying a very good tournament in a withdrawn role behind the striker. He will play those 1-2s and little cute pases into the corner.

WOJCIECH SZCZESNY

The Polish keeper has already come up trumps on a few occasions in the last two weeks and he will back himself to do the same again. He will be off his line, will have all his communication lines open to thwart the pace of Kylian Mbappe on the left.

Brazil's Jesus and Telles out of WC

DOHA: Gabriel Jesus and Alex Telles have been ruled out of the rest of the World Cup with knee injuries. The South American team said the pair, who were hurt during Friday's 1-0 defeat to Cameroon, underwent tests on Saturday that "confirmed their injuries and the impossibility of them recovering for the rest of the World Cup in Qatar". Brazil, who face South Korea on Monday, have problems in defence as Telles' fellow full-backs, Danilo and Alex Sandro, have also had injury problems.

Ruthless Dutch end American dream

AFP @ Doha

A CLINICAL Netherlands ended the United States' World Cup dream on Saturday, sweeping into the quarterfinals with a ruthless 3-1 victory. First-half goals from Memphis Depay and Daley Blind and a late strike from Denzel Dumfries sealed a deserved victory as the Dutch handed out a painful lesson in finishing to their American opponents.

Veteran coach Louis van Gaal's men were worthy victors in Saturday's last-16 clash at the Khalifa International Stadium. Although the USA enjoyed long periods of possession in a bright first-half display, all too often a lack of composure in the final third let them down.

Instead it was the Dutch who calmly bided their time before carving open the Americans with forensic precision.

USA forward Christian Pulisic squandered a golden chance to put his team 1-0 up after only three minutes, when he found himself in space only to see a scuffed shot saved by Andries Noppert. Buoyed by that early chance, the US remained on the front foot, attacking high up the field. But on 10 minutes the Netherlands took the lead.

After setting up two goals, Denzel Dumfries (L) scored Netherlands' third goal to put the match beyond USA at the Khalifa International Stadium on Saturday | AP

Superb interplay in midfield saw the ball worked to Inter Milan's Dumfries down the right. Dumfries picked out Depay, who swept home the finish to cap a majestic 20-pass move that was in the best traditions of the Netherlands' total footballing heritage.

Again the Americans advanced purposefully into Dutch territory through Pulisic, only for the Chelsea player to deliver a cross that fell behind his US team-mates.

Tim Weah had the best American chance of the remainder of the half on 43 minutes, letting fly with a rasping shot that Noppert parried away. But in first half stoppage time, the Netherlands delivered the hammer blow.

Dumfries again found space down the right and drilled a cross to Blind, who had ghosted clear of Sergino Dest, for an emphatic low finish.

The Netherlands nearly extended their lead early in the second half when Dumfries' low cross was prodded towards the US goal by defender Walker Zimmerman, forcing a smart save from Matt Turner.

USA coach Gregg Berhalter introduced Gio Reyna for the ineffective Jesus Ferreira in attack at half-time in an effort to provide a sharper cutting edge. He made an instant impression after setting up a shot for Weston McKennie that sailed over the bar.

Berhalter brought on Haji Wright for McKennie midway through the second half and the move sparked a fleeting revival. After seeing a goal-bound chance cleared at the near post on 75 minutes, Wright scored a minute later when his flick from Pulisic's cross looped over Noppert into the Dutch net for 2-1. Yet the American fightback was shortlived. In the 81st minute another Dutch attack pulled the USA defence out of position, and Blind calmly crossed to an unmarked Dumfries at the far post, who made it 3-1.

20 Memphis Depay moved clear of Klaas Jan Huntelaar to become Netherlands' second-highest goal scorer (43) of all time. His goal came at the end of a 20-goal move, which is the highest number of uninterupted passes leading to a goal (World Cup) in the country's history.

With emphasis on the collective, Switzerland beat Serbia in a feisty fixture, advance from the group stages of a big event for a fifth consecutive time

Switzerland players celebrate after seeing off Serbia on Friday | AP

A SUM GREATER THAN THEIR PARTS

SWAROOP SWAMINATHAN @ Chennai

ON the evening of November 15, 2021, Switzerland thought their right to play at the World Cup in Qatar would go down to the wire. With one game remaining, they were level on points with toppers Italy. But the latter held the upper hand, thanks to a bigger goal difference (+11 to +9) and goals scored (13 to 11). Both teams also had winnable fixtures: Switzerland at home to Bulgaria and Italy away at Northern Ireland.

But Northern Ireland held Italy while Switzerland pumped four unanswered goals past Bulgaria. It was vindication for the Swiss FA who gave the managerial job to Murat Yakin, who had the unenviable job of filling Vladimir Petkovic's big boots.

Yakin, a captain of the national team during his playing days, had had some coaching success, most notably at FC Basel when the likes of Mohamed Salah were plying their trade there. But the appointment wasn't met with any great approval. Yakin, after all, was managing FC Schaffhausen, a club in Switzerland's second tier. Considering Petkovic had taken the country to the quarterfinals of the Euros only a few months ago, this was seen as, at best, a sideways step. But Yakin proved the doubters wrong, topping a group that involved Italy.

After taking over from Petkovic, Yakin had made a promise. "... celebrate further successes."

His team delivered on that on a feisty, madcap night at Stadium 974 on Friday. In one of the contenders for a match of the World Cup, they edged Serbia in a five-goal thriller. Switzerland could have advanced with a draw but depending on the Cameroon - Brazil, they needed a win to guarantee progress.

So, they took Serbia by surprise. They started extremely quickly, having three shots on goal (two on target) in the first minute, a World Cup first since records were being kept. It left Serbia with no option but to attack but they were incredibly loose at the back.

It was no surprise that Xherdan Shaqiri got the opener, the right-hand side attacker finishing smartly. His celebration — a shush — reminded the uncomfortable political reality of this fixture. Soon enough, Serbia were ahead thanks to two goals in a breathless nine-minute spell. 1-0 became 1-2 but it became 3-2. The first 48 minutes had produced five goals and 17 shots on goal.

Then, the political nature of the fixture took over. Skipper Granit Xhaka made a seemingly obscene gesture towards the Serbian bench (it could yet invite FIFA sanctions), the tensions spilled over onto the pitch and the referee had no choice but to distribute cards like confetti. In all, 11 yellows were shown (at one point, the stadium announcer warned about the 'display of discriminatory banners and messages)'.

After the match, Xhaka said: "You can hear by listening to my voice, it's hoarse, that it was a game with a lot of emotions," he said. "It is part of football. The game was fair enough. We wanted to focus on football. We did this and we took this first step and are now into the round of 16. We are proud."

Lost in the immediate aftermath of the post-match drama was Switzerland's continued rise as a footballing nation.

What sets them apart from some of the other second-tier sides in the global game is the way they are usually able to raise their game whenever they face elite sides.

While others try to bring the level of their elite opponents down, Switzerland raise theirs. They have always had the capacity to live and beat the bigger sides — they beat Spain in 2010 — but they failed to advance.

What has worked for them is their ability to always produce results and performances a sum greater than their combined parts. It's a point Xhaka emphasised. "We don't have (Cristiano) Ronaldos and (Lionel) Messis in the team, we only function when we work together," Xhaka was quoted as saying by The Guardian last month. "Playing against us is very uncomfortable." Xhaka's observation is true because some of the key members in this side are fringe players for their club.

It should also be noted that they have a good band of players who have come together at the right time. Three of the players who started the final of their Under-17 World Cup final in 2009 — Xhaka, Haris Seferovic and Ricardo Rodriguez — are a big part of their squad in Qatar. Two years later, at the Under-21 Euros, Xherdan Shaqiri, Yann Sommer, Fabian Frei, Mario Gavranovi and Admir Mehmedi came along. Out of the eight, six are in Qatar.

Next up? A meeting with Portugal. At stake is a place in the quarterfinals. Switzerland haven't reached one since when they hosted it in 1954.

Game of lies bonds England

AP @ Doha

A CARD game that relies on the art of deception is strengthening the bond among England's players ahead of their match against Senegal in the World Cup round of 16.

Werewolf, a game of roleplay and deduction, has become a popular pastime for the squad between matches in Qatar. "It's about being the best liar," said midfielder Declan Rice. "The villagers have got to snuff out the wolves and the wolves have got to lie and tell everyone why they are not a wolf. There is a lot of teamwork, ganging up."

Whatever England is doing at its base in Al Wakrah, it's working so far. No other team picked up more than the seven points England recorded on their way to the knockout round and they are only one of three still undefeated. Yet the message from coach Gareth Southgate and captain Harry Kane this week has been about maintaining focus and standards.

Belgium and Germany were high-profile departures from the group stage, while defending champion France, along with Argentina, Spain, Brazil and Portugal have all been on the wrong end of upsets.

And to think England's 0-0 draw with USA was considered enough of a shock that it prompted loud jeers from Three Lions fans after that match last week. "I think it's always difficult when you see big teams or big players in teams that don't have the success that you want or don't live up to the expectation of a nation or where they see themselves," said defender John Stones.

Son eyes 'another miracle' against Brazil

DOHA: Son Heung-min wants his South Korea side to pull off "another miracle" and beat Brazil on Monday in the World Cup last 16 after their last-gasp heroics against Portugal. "This is great but our tournament is not over," Spurs attacker Son said following the emotions of the dramatic win over Portugal. "We've always talked about reaching the round of 16 as our objective but we should now try to go beyond that."

Senegal coach ill ahead of England tie

DOHA: Senegal coach Aliou Cisse was unable to attend a news conference a day before his team's game against England because of illness. Cisse, who has been ill and has a temperature, also missed team training on Friday. But he is planning to be on the sideline Sunday. "He's been sick for a couple of days now and he let us take charge of training yesterday with his instructions," Senegal assistant coach Regis Bogaert said Saturday.

PELE IN 'PALLIATIVE CARE'

ENS/AGENCIES @ Sao Paulo

ONE news the whole world is keeping a very close watch on is the health of Pele, who is in the hospital "to re-evaluate his cancer treatment". On Saturday, there were reports in Brazilian press that he was no longer responding to chemotherapy and has been put on end-of-life care.

According to the newspaper Folha de S Paulo, the football's greatest player is receiving palliative care after he stopped responding to chemotherapy treatment for colon cancer. The hospital, however, has not commented on his health update.

Earlier, the hospital had said, Pelé has a respiratory infection and will remain at the hospital where he's been since Tuesday. The 82-year-old Edson Arantes do Nascimento, better known as Pelé, is being treated with antibiotics, Hospital Albert Einstein said in a statement on Friday.

"His response has been adequate and the patient, who remains in a regular bedroom, is stable, with an overall improvement in his health condition," the hospital added.

Pelé thanked fans in an Instagram post late Thursday for the well-wishes he's received in a fight against cancer. He had a colon tumor removed in September 2021 and has since gone through chemotherapy.

Neither the hospital nor his family has said whether the former footballer's cancer has spread to other organs. He has checked in with the hospital every month.

The hospital confirmed on Friday that the three-time World Cup winner has had to regulate his chemotherapy medication.

Kely Nascimento, one of Pelé's daughters, extended her father's thankful message to Qatar and Brazil coach Tite, who sent positive messages to the former footballer.

From Adoni to team India: Anjali's story

GOMESH S @ Chennai

Anjali Sarvani

FRIDAY morning was just another day at Adoni, a municipality of 38.16 sq. km. in Kurnool district, Andhra Pradesh. But it all changed when the BCCI announced the India squad for the upcoming T20I series against Australia women, which begins on December 9 in Mumbai. Celebrations broke as the word spread. Anjali Sarvani had earned her maiden India call-up.

For the small city — a rich trade and industrial history — near the border of Karnataka, it was massive. Not just because one of their own had made it to the top for the first time, but also because of how big a role the town had to play in Anjali's journey. "Everyone in the town is so happy, people are calling from everywhere wanting to celebrate and meet her. I still don't know what to say. I am speechless," Venkatesh, Anjali's childhood coach, said. The reactions and celebrations do not come as a surprise. Anjali was among the first women to take up cricket in Adoni around 2009. As much as she enjoyed playing gully cricket, it was not her first choice of sport back then. "I was a 100m sprinter and very much interested in athletics. One day when I was training, some of the Kurnool District Cricket Association officials saw me and asked if I would be interested in attending a cricket camp. I wasn't, mainly because I have been working in athletics for a while at that point and wanted to focus on that. But they spoke to my parents and my father convinced me to give it a go and see what happens," said Anjali.

It was then she came under the wings of Venkatesh, the physical education teacher at Milton Grammar English Medium School. Being a sprinter, fast bowling became a natural choice. While she learnt the ropes quickly, the journey wasn't easy. She used to stay in the ground all the time: from 6 AM to 10.30-11 AM in the morning and then 3 to 6.30-7 in the evening. While she took on the challenges of the sport head on, there were struggles off the field as well. Born in a middle-class family, it wasn't easy in the early years to take up an elite sport like cricket. "Initially we struggled a lot," said Ramana Rao, Anjali's father.

Lions finish WC with a loud roar

Despite not making it to last 16, Cameroon ended their campaign on a high, beating Brazil 1-0

ANDREW DAMPF @ Lusail

Cameroon's Vincent Aboubakar celebrates scoring his team's first goal against Brazil at the Lusail Stadium on Friday | AFP

CAMEROON coach Rigobert Song came full circle on a memorable and bittersweet night for African football.

Jerome Ngom Mbekeli, the only member of Cameroon's team who plays for a Cameroonian club, made an inspiring run and cross to set up Vincent Aboubakar's header and stoppage-time winner in a 1-0 victory to make the Indomitable Lions the first African nation to beat Brazil at a World Cup.

Despite the victory on Friday, Cameroon finished third in their group and were eliminated. The 24-year-old Ngom Mbekeli was Cameroon's final substitution, coming on four minutes from time. Song credited his own former coach, Henri Michel, for giving him an opportunity in 1994 when he played for local club Tonnerre Yaounde as he was making his World Cup debut.

"You need to trust youth," Song said through a translator. "Henri Michel gave me an opportunity. He saw the potential in me. Now I'm the coach and I see potential in my young players. "I knew (Ngom Mbekeli) was a good, quality player. He just needed an opportunity to show that. Hopefully his performance can motivate other local players."

Goalkeeper Devis Epassy — thrust into action after usual starter Andre Onana was sent home for disciplinary reasons after a dispute with Song before Cameroon's previous game — earned player of the match honours for a series of difficult saves. "No one knew me until I started playing for the national team a year ago," Epassy said through a translator. "We can be proud of what we've done tonight. We showed that we can also be a top team."

ROHIT & CO. FACE BANGLA CHALLENGE

As a full-strength Indian side take on Bangladesh in the first ODI on Sunday, a look at key talking points...

FRESH START FOR INDIA

Rohit Sharma doesn't want to think too far ahead. However, this series shifts the focus on the 50-over format after back-to-back T20 World Cups. With a full-strength batting order, India would want to put away the scars of the recent past and start afresh against a side that could test them under home conditions.

INJURY CONCERNS ON BOTH SIDES

While Tamim Iqbal was earlier ruled out due to groin injury for Bangladesh, India have lost Mohammed Shami to a shoulder injury. Umran Malik is drafted in for Shami while Litton Das is all set to lead the hosts. In what is a short three-match series, both teams would want their key players to remain injury-free for there is an important Test series to follow.
